FRENCH LEADER IN SYRIA WARNS BRITISH OF WAR

Hostilities Believed Imminent.

ANKARA, Turkey, May 18.—Gen. Henri Dentz, France's high commissioner for Syria and Lebanon, tonight warned Great Britain that the French armies in the mandated territories were ready to defend themselves against British attack, and to reply to force with force.

This announcement was broadcast over the Beirut radio shortly after the same station had announced that France would remain by the side of Germany and the "new order."

The interpretation of these statements by diplomatic circles here was that open warfare between France and Britain may break out at any hour.

Initiative With the British.

The initiative, however, still appears to remain with the British, and it is not known whether Lieut. Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson, British commander of Palestine and Transjordan, will reply to the statement of Gen. Dentz or whether an 11th hour parley will be held to ease the tension between two former allies.

[Russian volunteer soldiers already are in Iraq helping the Iraqis fight the British, according to a dispatch from Istanbul which quoted German sources there. Details on page 2.]

Gen. Dentz, in his warning statement, said:

"French, Lebanese, and Syrians, you have heard the appeal of Marshal Petain [French chief of state]; you have heard his moving words replete with firmness and wisdom, words inspired with an ardent desire for peace and order.

[Marshal Petain in a broadcast last Thursday said France would regain its former position as a major power if the negotiations now under way with Germany were successful.]

English Bomb Airdromes.

"At the same moment in which he [Petain] was speaking, English airplanes attacked our airdromes without warning. Once more after Mers El Kebir [where the British attacked the French fleet] and Dakar [which the British tried to seize] England has spilled French blood and has attacked French soil.

"The British government, in order to justify this aggression against France, has accused it of not having forcibly repelled German airplanes flying over Syria, some of which were forced to make landings. Nothing can justify this accusation. Marshal Petain has confirmed that France has no aggressive intentions against England. The privileged move by our former enemy was strictly within the terms of the armistice.

"This is the truth. All the accusations of Britain against France are only calumnies and criminal pretext. But we will act accordingly with calm and dignity.

Ready to Reply with Force.

"Certainly we French, Syrians, and Lebanese are in an unprecedentedly close association and will collaborate in brotherly fashion against any act of hostility of which the victims are innocent populations.

"I have received the mission of defending the soil of Syria and Lebanon. I shall fulfill this mission inflexibly. The army is ready to reply to force with force."

Iraqis Wreck 8 British Planes.

BEIRUT, Syria, May 18 (AP).—The Iraqi high command today claimed destruction of eight British planes in a raid on the British airdrome at Habbaniyah, 60 miles west of Bagdad, and the repulse of British patrols with heavy imperial losses in clashes on the western Iraqi front.

A communique issued at Bagdad declared further that Iraqi forces maintained the offensive in minor operations around Rutba, oil station in western Iraq.

Gen. Henri Dentz, French high commissioner in Syria, and other high Syrian notables, attended funeral services at Beirut for a noncommissioned French air officer killed Friday in the RAF bombardment of Rayak airdrome.

British Score Aerial Victory.

LONDON, May 18 (AP).—Two British Gladiator fighters, tangling with two Messerschmitt fighters over Camp Rashid, near Bagdad, in the second day of clashes with German planes over Iraq, downed both of the opposing craft without a scratch to themselves, the British announced today.

DUKE OF AOSTA'S EMISSARIES GET ENGLISH TERMS

Duke of Aosta.

CAIRO, May 19 [Monday] (AP).—The duke of Aosta, viceroy of Ethiopia and "life and soul of Italian resistance" in the nearly conquered East African domain, has decided to give up and has been given British terms for the surrender of his trapped army at Amba Alaji, it was reported early today.

The lanky cousin of King-Emperor Victor Emmanuel was declared by the British to have sent emissaries to learn the conditions on which he might yield his troops, estimated at approximately 38,000 Italian and colonial soldiers.

Last month the duke quickly rejected a British demand for his unconditional surrender. Whether the British again demanded that was not divulged.

[The British radio in a broadcast heard in New York quoted a military spokesman in Cairo as saying the terms certainly would "include the surrender of the duke himself, the general in command, and the Italian forces" in Amba Alaji.]

A Mountain Fortress.

It was said the viceroy had with him 7,000 Italian officers and men in addition to colonial troops. The stand at Amba Alaji, a 9,000 foot mountain stronghold 280 miles northeast of Addis Ababa, was the main point of final resistance put up by the viceroy, who, as an air corps officer, helped subdue the kingdom of Haile Selassie.

British sources here confidently looked forward to a speedy finish of operations in Ethiopia if the duke yields. Only two Fascist strongholds remain—in the Gondar area northwest of Addis Ababa and Gimma in the south. It was said that the submission of the duke likely would affect the remaining Italians.

[But in London an authoritative source cautioned that the surrender of the duke would not mean the cleanup of Ethiopia was complete. This informant indicated about 31,000 troops remained in the two bastions still unconquered and they could prove difficult to whip.]

Desert Hardened Troops.

The fall of Amba Alaji would release considerable British forces for the North African and middle east fronts. Another advantage to be gained would be the opening of the road from Asmara, Eritrea, to Addis Ababa, now blocked by Amba Alaji. Having a free thorofare would help operations remaining to be carried out.

Among the besiegers of Amba Alaji are desert hardened Indian and South African troops who, with RAF support, were lauded by the middle east command for executing a series of "brilliant operations" in surrounding the Fascists.

In southern Ethiopia British operation progressed satisfactorily and a London report told of the capture of Adela, 145 miles south of Addis Ababa and 200 miles north of the Kenya colony border.

READY FOR WORST BUT HOPE FOR BEST, SAYS NEW ZEALAND'S CHIEF

CAIRO, Egypt, May 18 (AP).—New Zealand's premier, Peter Fraser, asserted tonight that "we are prepared for the worst but hope for the best" in the Pacific ocean. He is inspecting New Zealand's middle east forces.

"The importance of the United States is always before us when we are considering the Pacific," he said. "I don't believe advanced nations in the Pacific can be sacrificed and that the United States will stand by. We ourselves are prepared to fight aggression."

Fraser said no hostility has been shown toward New Zealand by Japan and asserted peace could be maintained in the Pacific.

MOVE TO BREAK SHIPYARD STRIKE

AFL Prepares to Defy Outlaw Pickets.

San Francisco, Cal., May 18 (AP).—The Bay Cities Metal trades council voted unanimously today to send 15,000 workers thru picket lines at 11 bay area shipyards where work on 500 million dollars in armament contracts has been at a standstill for the last week because of a machinists' strike.

The decision was announced by John Frey, international head of all American Federation of Labor metal trades unions, after a stormy meeting of the council. Both AFL and CIO machinists are involved in the walkout.

At Paterson, N. J., last week William Green, president of the AFL termed the walkout "an outlawed strike." He appealed to the unions to rescind their strike action.

Await Governor's Action.

At the request of Gov. Culbert L. Olson, the metal trades council decided not to act until after a meeting Tuesday night called by the governor. Olson will appeal personally to the strikers to return to their jobs in the interest of national preparedness.

Frey declared, however, that AFL leaders "will not be influenced by anything that happens at the meeting of the machinists and the governor Tuesday evening."

"We will return to work regardless of any illegitimate picket lines," he said. "The day and the place will be determined in advance. The international representatives in San Francisco and the business agents of the unions will go thru the lines ahead of the members.

"As president, I, too, will go thru.

Reason for Secrecy.

"The reason we are not saying when and where we will break the lines is because we do not want a motley crowd of sightseers there. And we are not advertising for the benefit of the CIO and the communist party or anybody else who thinks a circus is taking place."

Every member of the Metal Trades council, except the machinists' representative, attended the meeting.

The machinists struck on May 10, interrupting work on 60 vessels for the government and throwing approximately 15,000 men out of work. They demanded a 15 cent an hour wage increase as against 12 cents which was offered, and double time for overtime work instead of time and a half.

Frey said that neither the army nor the navy would take any steps in the return to work movement.

"We don't need armed forces. We'll go thru the lines ourselves and reopen the plant."

Bethlehem Parley Tomorrow.

A spokesman said the navy was coöperating "in any way we can be of assistance."

The council's decision, Frey said, in no way affects the situation at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company plant, which refused to sign the recent master agreement designed to stabilize wages and working conditions in west coast shipyards.

Bethlehem and the metal trades council officials are to meet Tuesday to start negotiations for a working contract. A council member said Bethlehem would be asked to sign the master agreement immediately.

Landon Warns of Cost of War; Hits Government Deception

Topeka, Kas., May 18 (AP).—Alf M. Landon said today "the greatest deception that is being practiced upon us is the implication that we can have war and not suffer the consequences of war."

In a broadcast sponsored by the America First committee, the 1936 Republican Presidential nominee asserted that if this country uses its ships to deliver materials to warring nations it means war for us—another A. E. F.

Cites No Fighting Pledge.

President Roosevelt has said convoys mean war, the former Kansas governor said, adding:

"It is a shock to the moral conscience of the nation to see how quickly the campaign promises of last fall are being circumvented in administration circles. They are seeking to do indirectly what the President said he would not do. The end may be the same—war.

"We were told last fall 'no fighting' and there has been no change in the situation since then, the possibilities of which were not contemplated when those promises were made."

Landon charged that some of the most radical of the "New Deal war crowd" are "attempting to lay the groundwork for the ultimate destruction of private business by blaming its management for the deficiencies of our national defense efforts."

It is greatly to every American's interest that England win, he asserted, "but I do not think our security depands upon an English victory.

"I don't mean to say that we are not in dire peril. We are. But the argument that we should go to war because of economic conditions under a German victory is to me a narrow and hateful reason for war.

Sees Peril to Labor.

"Free labor will always whip forced labor, and without going to war to do it.

"This is a second time within a generation that we have been told our security depends on England. It is coming too close to a habit of permanent thinking for a strong, virile people like us."

Landon said it was our duty to defend the western hemisphere. "Let us arm ourselves so terrifically," he said, "that we can lick any nation or combination of nations that are foolish enough to attack us here."

Tells Record on British Aid.

"My record on aid to Great Britain speaks for itself," Landon said. "I favored outright subsidies, as a matter of our self interest, before the lease-lend bill ever was proposed. My opposition to the lease-lend bill was based on its dishonest label, and its vague and limitless grants of power to the President.

"If the American people are confused, it is because of this fact. It is because every observant citizen can see there is a direct conflict between the President's own statements and his promises to the American people and recent statements of the members of his cabinet.

"It is because of the statements of the President in the last campaign, assuring them, among other things, if he were reëlected, of business as usual, and peace for the United States. It is because since then the lease-lend bill was sold to them as a way to aid Great Britain and remain at peace.

That Silly Old Dollar.

"It is because the President talked about taking the 'silly old dollar sign' off of aid to England, and turns around and knocks the American citizen silly with an enormous increase in taxes.

"I say again that moral conscience and common honesty demand that before the President reverses the policy of the United States, established by the neutrality act and its amendment, and established in the last campaign, he should make recommendations frankly and honestly to the congress and to the American people. He should tell us the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the facts. And of course, he should do this before it is too late for congress to do anything else but declare war."

120 Americans on Vessel Sunk Off So. Africa

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 18 (AP).—The Egyptian steamer Zamzam, reported to have 120 Americans among her 201 passengers, has been sunk in the south Atlantic, it was announced today. The ship was en route from New York to Alexandria.

A passenger liner of 8,299 tons, the vessel went down somewhere between Pernambuco, Brazil, and Capetown, Union of South Africa, but there were no immediate details of the cause of the sinking or the fate of the passengers.

Captain Is Missing.

The Alexandria Navigation company received a cable from London stating that the Zamzam's master, Capt. William Gray Smith, a veteran of 37 years at sea, was missing, but there were no other details.

The American consul general here said the Americans aboard the vessel included Protestant and Catholic missionaries en route to posts in various parts of central Africa, and a group of British-American ambulance drivers and their assistants, en route to service with British and "Free French" forces in Egypt.

[A volunteer unit of 24 ambulance drivers, including members of several prominent families, was reported on March 20, when the Zamzam sailed, to be prepared to sail for service with the Free French forces of Gen. Charles De Gaulle. The unit was recruited by the British-American ambulance corps. It is believed this unit was the one making the trip on the Zamzam when it sank.]

Big Cargo Carried.

The ship also carried a cargo of fertilizer, trucks, automobiles and machinery and was said to have been plainly marked with the flags of nonbelligerent Egypt.

The Zamzam, built in 1909 at Belfast as the Leicestershire and later named the British Exhibitor, was a 467 foot, twin screw motorship, with a speed of 14 knots. The log of her most recent movements in western waters included:

Feb. 23, 1941—Arrived New York harbor, docked next day with 99 passengers.

Feb. 27—Left for Boston.

Ship Libeled for $50,000.

March 20—Sailed from Jersey City with general cargo, 24 British and American ambulance corps drivers, and 175 missionaries bound for Capetown.

A United States marshal served libel papers on her for $50,000 damage suit filed in Newark by Michael Ponziano, a Brooklyn stevedore, who claimed he suffered a fractured skull while working aboard her. Her agents posted a bond to cover the libel.

April 8—Arrived Recife, Brazil, with 23 ambulances and 200 passengers bound for Egypt.

CALL POLICEMAN TO CRASH; FINDS FATHER IS VICTIM

Sergt. Walter Glaser of the Riverside police received a telephone call last night that an elderly man had been struck by a hit and run automobile at Harlem avenue and 36th street. Glaser promptly notified a roving Riverside police squad, made up of Policeman Frank Hefele Jr. and Lieut. William Bartel, to go to the scene.

Policeman Hefele and Lieut. Bartel arrived there a few minutes later. The victim was lying on the ground, surrounded by a crowd. As the policemen stepped up, a physician pronounced the man dead. Policeman Hefele paled as he glanced at him. The victim was his father, Frank Hefele Sr., 75, of 369 Olmstead road, Riverside. He had been run down only 600 feet from his home.

ONE MORE ASSURANCE

President Roosevelt, on October 30, 1940, speaking to fathers and mothers on the selective service act:

"And while I am talking to you mothers and fathers, I give you one more assurance.

"I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong that, by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores.

"The purpose of our defense is defense."

POSTWAR TRADE PROGRAM LAID DOWN BY HULL

Its 5 Points Stress Internationalism.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cordell Hull.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull asserted tonight that the United States "will not be frustrated" in its aid to Britain program and will "find a way" to insure safe transit of war cargoes to that nation. In addition, Hull presented a five point program for "world economic reconstruction" after the war.

The secretary, speaking by radio in connection with the observance of Foreign Trade, recalled regretfully that an attempt was made after the first world war to "reorganize the world on a sound basis." Unhappily, he said, power fell into the hands of "groups which advocated political and economic nationalism in their most extreme forms." The political, economic, and social effects were disastrous, he declared.

"Knowing these facts as we do, it is none too early to lay down at least some of the principles by which policies must be guided at the conclusion of the war," Hull said, "to press for a broad program of world economic reconstruction, and to consider tentative plans for the application of those policies."

His Five "Principles."

The five "principles" listed by Hull which drew a comparison with President Wilson's famous "14 points," were:

1. Extreme nationalism must not again be permitted to express itself in excessive trade restrictions.
2. Nondiscrimination in international commercial relations must be the rule, so that international trade may grow and prosper.
3. Raw material supplies must be available to all nations without discrimination.
4. International agreements regulating the supply of commodities must be so handled as to protect fully the interests of the consuming countries and their people.
5. The institutions and arrangements of international finance must be so set up that they lend aid to the essential enterprises and the continuous development of all countries, and permit the payment thru processes of trade consonant with the welfare of all countries.

"Won't Be Frustrated."

Hull's statement of principles was preceded by his declaration that the United States "will not be frustrated" in its aid-Britain policy.

"We will find a way to insure that the weapons pouring in ever greater volume from our factories will reach the hands which eagerly await them," he asserted.

"We must not be weakened by internal division, we must devote our whole energy to essential tasks," he added. "The production and transfer of essential supplies to those countries which are actively resisting aggression demand sacrifice of time and substance, and making of maximum effort on the part of each and every American citizen.

"Delays in meeting full schedules of production of essential military supplies, whether caused by business complacency or by strikes, can and should be avoided, for they gravely endanger the safety of the nation. Our greatest possible national effort must be made, not for the sake of other countries, but primarily for the sake of and to ensure our own security.

"Either the spread of lawlessness in the world must be brought to a halt or we shall soon find ourselves surrounded by aggressors and compelled to fight, virtually alone and against great odds, for our own national existence."

He vigorously assailed "ruthless aggression by nations bent upon world domination." If the axis powers win, he asserted, an economic world would exist in which trade was reduced essentially to enforced barter, with the conquerors forcing delivery to him, at his own price, of the goods he wanted.

"In the face of these facts, no one

RUSSIAN FLYERS HELPING IRAQIS, GERMANS CLAIM

Jubilant Over Prospect of Soviet Intervention.

ISTANBUL, Turkey, May 18 (AP).—German quarters today declared that Russian "volunteers" already are in Iraq — despite previous soviet denials—and expressed unconcealed satisfaction over the prospects of joint Russian-axis intervention against the British in the middle east battle for oil.

M. S. Vinogradov.

The Germans contended that among soviet volunteers permitted by Moscow to go to Iraq were pilots to join the Iraqi air force, already declared by the British to have been augmented by axis planes and technicians flown across French ruled Syria.

[Tass, soviet official news agency, last Friday branded as "fabrications" Iraqi newspaper reports that Russian pilots were joining the Iraqi air force.]

Von Papen Is Active.

Supporting Nazi suggestions that Russia might join Germany and Italy—unofficially—in the middle east warfare was the disclosure that the German ambassador to Turkey, Franz von Papen, held a long conference yesterday with soviet Ambassador M. S. Vinogradov.

Both envoys also saw Iraqi Defense Minister Majdi Shefket before he returned to Bagdad from conferences in Ankara. He was reported to have been assured enough axis help to permit continued resistance to the British from desert bases.

Observers here saw another straw in the wind indicating a possible Russian move as a result of yesterday's exchange of Iraqi-soviet notes establishing diplomatic and trade relations between the two countries.

Urge Occupation of Syria.

Turkish newspapers meanwhile asserted it was urgent that Britain occupy French mandated Syria, next door neighbor of Iraq and reported pathway for axis aid to the middle east state.

"The British should have occupied Syria long ago, now they must do so quickly," observed the newspaper Tan.

Ijdam asserted that "the British must employ every means to occupy Syria."

Askam, commenting on peaceful Turkish-German relations, said that because Germany now has no military need for Turkey "this is peace profitable to all—but peace for how long?"

Reds See Spread of Conflict.

MOSCOW, May 18 (AP).—The communist party organ, Pravda, in a discussion of the middle east situation, today said British air raids on Syrian airdromes where German and Italian planes were found "is evidence of the spreading conflict beyond the Iraqi border."

"The conflict in Iraq has caused wide repercussions in the near eastern countries of Syria, Palestine, and Transjordan, where Arab nationalists have demonstrated sympathy for the Iraqi government," the newspaper asserted.

Speed Armament Program! Knudsen Urges Patriot Rally

An appeal to the middle west to put more speed into the armament program was made yesterday by William S. Knudsen, co-director of the Office of Production Management.

Knudsen spoke in Soldiers' field at Chicago's observance of "I Am an American Day." Approximately 75,000 persons attended the rally. Admission was free.

A large proportion of the crowd consisted of young people, attracted by the stage and movie stars. The stars included Don Ameche of the movies, who was master of ceremonies; Helen Hayes, stage actress; Pat O'Brien and Dennis Morgan, film players; George Jessel, comedian, and Jan Kiepura, Gertrude Niesen, Suzanna Foster, and John Boles, singers. Paul Whiteman's orchestra played.

"Come on, Chicago, and your great middle west!" Knudsen said. "Give us a boost for the good of the cause! Defense today is largely a matter of material. We have the shops and the men. The whole world is looking at us, and most of the world is praying for us to get our industrial machine changed over from peacetime production to defense.

All-Out Effort Held Needed.

"We never have needed to supercharge patriotism in America. We can be sure it is there when it is needed. So, during the period that is directly ahead of us we shall call on every man, woman, and child to get behind our defense program and help us get the all-out effort which is necessary that we may become the arsenal of the world.

"We must have the strongest navy, the strongest army, and the strongest air force that the world has ever seen, not for aggression, not for conquest, but for the defense of our shores. And we must accomplish this in shorter time than it was ever done before.

"American industry never has failed the American nation. It is not failing her now. What this job needs is real feeling from everybody that this is a big job which must be done in a hurry.

"Over all things let America remain free, even if it's the last place in the world where freedom lives."

Preserve Liberty, Green Urges.

Gov. Dwight H. Green emphasized the need of preserving the nation's liberties at home.

"No alien 'ism' can menace our liberties so long as the way of equality is preserved for all," he said. "Let us kill the monster of doubt and uncertainty by turning fervently to the task of making representative government work. There is no surer way of preserving representative government than by taking an interest in government itself.

"It is you who must realize that government is your servant—that yours is the right of freedom upon which no agency dares intrude."

Mayor Calls for Unity.

Mayor Kelly called upon the assemblage to face the future bravely and with unity.

"I believe that if this monster of war, this would-be master of masters as a dictator, should win this war America would sink to the lowest depths, both economically and spiritually," Kelly said.

"America can go under if we love temporary peace more than our eventual safety. Regardless of what it may cost, it will be cheaper than the price we will have to pay if the outcome of this horrible struggle sees Hitler victorious."

Other Speakers on Program.

Other speakers were Dr. Howard A. Vernon, head of the Chicago church Federation; the Rev. Martin J. Nealis of the Catholic church, and Dr. Louis A. Binstock, Rabbi of Temple Sholom.

Bohemian, Lithuanian, Italian, Ukranian, Polish, and Negro choirs shared the early part of the program. In the afternoon the Chicago Board of Trade post championship band of the American Legion and a score of drum and bugle corps played while dozens of drill teams paced off fancy maneuvers.

The program closed with "The Star Spangled Banner," sung by the audience. The program was broadcast over W-G-N and the Mutual System.

NAZIS CLAIM U. S. WANTS TO POLICE WHOLE OF EUROPE

Roosevelt 'Aims' Assailed by Hitler's Paper.

BERLIN, May 18 (AP).—Germany today trained her big propaganda guns on war agitation in the United States.

The biggest and blackest headlines in Adolf Hitler's paper, Voelkischer Beobachter, said "Roosevelt's government betrays its war aims: Germany to be placed for all-time under police supervision of U. S. A., Roosevelt aims to make Europe a colony for English speaking exploiters."

Interpret Knox Speech.

These headlines were over a dispatch from Stockholm, Sweden, which reported the Newport, R. I., naval college address of Navy Secretary Knox. The conclusions were drawn from the statement attributed to him that the rising of another Hitler in 30 years can be prevented "if a second time we do not permit police control over Germany to be taken from our hands."

[The Knox statement said "we can rest assured that when Germany and its will of force is ultimately defeated in Europe another Hitler 20 or 30 years hence will be able to do the same thing in an even shorter period of time if the world again relinquishes its policing power."]

Europe a United Front.

Most of the German press devoted long articles to the theme that in the present state the war is becoming a conflict of Europe against most of the rest of the world.

The press spread the impression that the "American-English" blockade and other war policies are hitting the Scandinavian nations, France, and the Balkans as much as Germany and that consequently Europe is swiftly becoming a political, economic, and military unit which soon will be acting as one state.

Asks British to Give Arms to the Jews in Palestine

New York, May 18 (AP).—Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the Jewish agency for Palestine and of the world Zionist organization, urged today that the British government provide arms to Jews in Palestine. "All the difference between us and the British government waned into insignificance when measured against the possibility of a British defeat at the hands of the totalitarian, anti-democratic powers," Dr. Weizmann said at services in Carnegie hall.

CROATIA AGAIN MONARCHY; KING PICKED BY ITALY

Throne Long Vacant Goes to Sailor Duke.

Ante Pavelich.

ROME, May 18 (AP).—In a 10 minute ceremony, the new axis created state of Croatia received its fifth foreign dynasty in 839 years today when King Victor Emmanuel named his 41 year old cousin, the duke of Spoleto, as King Aimone to wear the crown of Zovonimir.

[The duke of Spoleto is the younger brother of the duke of Aosta, Italian viceroy in Ethiopia, who yesterday sought Britain's terms of surrender.]

Designation of the tall polo playing sailor duke of the house of Savoy was at the request of Ante Pavelich, who bears the title of Poglavnik, Croat equivalent of Il Duce, in a glittering audience at Quirinal palace.

[Pavelich was accused of leading the band that assassinated King Alexander of Jugo-Slavia in 1934. He was a refugee in Italy before the Jugo-Slav campaign began.]

Agreement Fixes Borders.

Almost immediately after the appointment of the new king three agreements were signed in the presence of Premier Benito Mussolini at the Palazzo Venezia, fixing Croatia's frontiers and establishing within Italy's "imperial community" the economic and political status of the new Balkan kingdom, which was torn from Jugo-Slavia in the first days of the axis Balkan invasion.

Croatia's new queen is Princess Irene of Greece, whose brother, King George II., is a fugitive on the Island of Crete from the German and Italian armies. She came from her home at Florence for the occasion, but did not attend the ceremony.

The documents signed in the presence of Mussolini pledged Croatia not to build any army, air force, or naval bases along the Adriatic, and gave assurance that Croatia will not build a navy.

A separate "treaty of guarantee and collaboration" makes Italy responsible for Croatia's independence and integrity and binds Croatia to take no international steps without Italy's approval.

The boundary treaty of the new state said that "what might be called classical Dalmatia" would become a part of the kingdom of Italy.

80 Mile Zone on Coast.

This classical Dalmatia was described by Stefani, Italian official news agency, as a zone 80 miles long on the coast from Zara to Split. It includes the cities of Sibenik and Trau [Trogir], near Split; all the Dalmatian coast except the islands of Pag, Brac and Vis, and the whole district of Kotor inlet as far as the borders of Montenegro.

An Italian-Croat commission will trace the exact boundaries. A small bit of northern Croatia already has been awarded to Germany.

There was also an exchange of notes concerning the administration of the city of Split and the Island of Korcula, which are given considerable autonomy in exchange for guarantees on behalf of Italian minorities.

Treaty to Cover 25 Years.

A third document provided for observance of existing Italian-Jugo-Slav agreements until they are revised.

The "treaty of guarantee and collaboration" is for 25 years and contains a pledge for the early signing of customs, railway, shipping, and cultural agreements.

Designation of the duke of Spoleto was read by his cousin from the throne in the Quirinal palace immediately after the offer of Croatia's 1,016 year old crown had been read by Pavelich. The golden crown carries clover leaves surmounted by an apple and a cross.

[The crown of Zovonimir is reputed to have been placed on the head of Tomislav as the first Croat king on the field at Duvno in 925.]

Pavelich was later received by the pope in a twenty minute "private and personal audience."

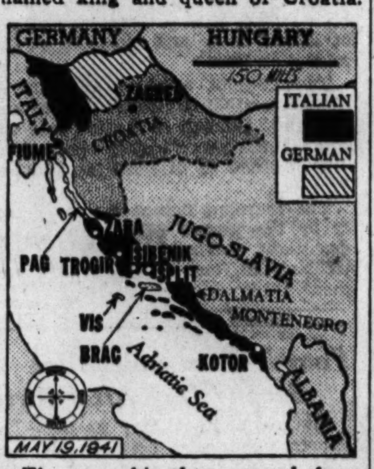
King a World War Flyer.

The new king is the second son of the late duke of Aosta, Prince Emanuelle Filiberto, and Princess Helen, daughter of France's count of Paris. Flier and soldier, as well as sailor, he is also noted in Italy as a sportsman and explorer. He served in the Italian air corps in the last months of the world war. He visited America in 1921. In the Ethiopian war he commanded a group of light warships in the Red sea in 1935, and later commanded an infantry unit.

*Rule New State

(Story in adjoining column.)

The duke and duchess of Spoleto, of the Italian ruling house, who were named king and queen of Croatia.



The new kingdom carved from Jugo-Slavia, with areas taken by Germany and Italy as result of victorious war.

SEVERSKY URGES SEPARATE FLYING FORCE FOR U. S.

Washington, D. C., May 18 [Special].—Britain, the world's strongest sea power, is being strangled by a nation virtually without sea power, Maj. Alexander P. de Seversky, noted designer of airplanes, declared today in a radio talk in which he advocated a separate American air force.

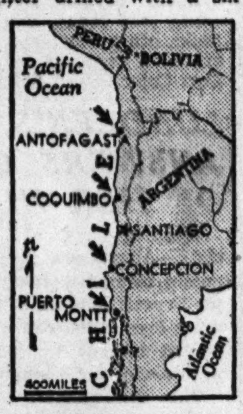
"A separate air power, independent of the older military services, is indispensable," said Maj. de Seversky. "It must take its rightful place as an equal service, commanded by airmen with the vision and the audacity, the training and the knowledge, to achieve domination of the skies.

"For a year now the royal air force, rather than the British fleet, has been holding at bay Germany's troops across the channel."

This fact and others deducted from the European conflict, he continued, underlie an entirely new principle which completely revolutionizes warfare. "It is that surface operations no longer are possible unless effective control of the air above is first obtained," he said.

SEA CHASE BEGINS AS NAZI VESSELS SAIL FROM CHILE

SANTIAGO, Chile, May 18 (AP).—A British freighter armed with a six inch cannon was believed tonight to be chasing at least one of five German freighters which sailed over the week-end from widely separated Chilean ports in an attempt to run the British blockade.



Arrows indicate ports from which ships sailed.

The Nazi ship Rakotis, 6,173 tons, left the port of Antofogasta only 30 minutes before the British armed freighter Laguna, 6,466 tons, steamed out in the same southerly direction.

The departure of the five German ships cleared Chilean ports of all Nazi freighters. They had been in Chilean waters since the beginning of the war. The Rhakotis, laden with a general cargo, led the procession late yesterday. Then the 5,522 ton Frankfurt sailed from Concepcion with lentils, ore concentrates, and hides. From the port of Coquimbo the 1,230 ton sister ships Quito and Bogota sailed with loads of ore concentrates. The fifth ship to leave sailed before dawn from Puerto Montt, in southern Chile. It was the 6,101 ton Erlangen.

Synagogue in Marseilles Destroyed by Time Bomb

MARSEILLES, France, May 18 (AP).—A synagogue was partly destroyed by a time bomb last night in the latest series of anti-Jewish incidents in this "refugee capital of Europe." In Vichy, the government ordered 107 more Jewish owned shops in the Paris region placed under gentile administrators. The government arranged the repatriation from the Pacific island of Tahiti—now governed by supporters of Gen. Charles de Gaulle—of a group which supported Vichy.

ing Australians recaptured a number of strong points in the outer defenses of the beleaguered port. Twenty-five German prisoners also were seized. In the Sollum and Fort Capuzzo areas along the Libyan-Egyptian border, British mechanized patrols continued their lively harassment of axis forces.

Violent War in Air.

The aerial warfare over the week-end was very violent. The RAF and ground batteries destroyed 22 axis planes [including three in Iraq] and damaged more than 20 others.

Axis planes raided the Suez canal area last night but failed to inflict casualties or damage. Three of the axis raiders were downed, two by anti-aircraft and one by British chaser planes.

In the most destructive blow to axis aviation, 20 German Junkers bombers, a number of Messerschmitt fighters and Heinkels were damaged by RAF airmen attacking Hassani in Greece. Additional damage was reported inflicted and six planes destroyed on the Nazi held Greek airdromes at Argos, Malaoi, and Menidi.

Returning again to the assault on Bengazi, main port of entry for axis troops and supplies in North Africa, the RAF blasted that Libyan port Friday night, starting tremendous fires which blazed furiously long after the raiders left. Derna and El Gazala were other Libyan targets.

At Sollum British fighters downed two Messerschmitts.

More than 20 axis vehicles were destroyed in a raid on a large supply column moving along the Tobruk-Bardia road. Traffic was stopped completely.

Axis planes attempting to machine gun a British airdrome on the Greek island of Crete were intercepted, and three Messerschmitt fighters and a Junkers bomber were downed by RAF fighters and four other axis craft by antiaircraft guns.

In all these operations, the RAF acknowledged the loss of only three of its own craft.

Italians Admit Difficulty.

ROME, May 18 (AP).—The Italian high command admitted today that the predicament of the duke of Aosta's forces in Northern Ethiopia is "becoming more difficult from hour to hour because of the scarcity of means, the losses suffered, and the impossibility of carrying away and tending the wounded."

Despite the growing seriousness of the situation, the Fascist high command asserted the dwindling defenders of Amba Alaji were continuing to resist "with great courage."

British Attacks Collapse.

BERLIN, May 18 (AP).—Several British counterattacks from Tobruk in North Africa collapsed under German artillery fire, the German high command said today, and four British tanks, other war material, and prisoners were captured in fighting about Fort Capuzzo and Sollum.

Italians to Quit

Italian forces surrounded at Amba Alaji, Eritrea, have sent emissaries to obtain British terms of surrender. Cessation of hostilities in the area would free British troops to clean up the opposition southward in Ethiopia.

LUNDEEN'S WIDOW ANSWERS CRITICS OF HER HUSBAND

Washington, D. C., May 18 [Special].—Allegations of a New York gossip columnist that the late Senator Ernest Lundeen of Minnesota was not a loyal American were vigorously denied tonight by his widow in a nation-wide radio broadcast.

This disseminator of rumors, she said, "has cruelly slandered my husband—after his death—by repeatedly suggesting that Senator Lundeen was not a loyal American. This is malicious and atrociously false."

Mrs. Lundeen, whose husband served in the Spanish-American war as a volunteer, said that he was a lifelong opponent of involvement of the United States in any European war, and was elected on campaign pledges that he would never vote for such involvement. He "never expressed support, publicly or privately, for any foreign government," she added. "The one thought that filled his mind was the safety and well being of America."

The senator's widow accused a pair of Washington columnists of "cooperating in spreading libels" against her husband, and charged: "If my husband had joined forces with the international war mongers he would now be permitted to rest in peace."

GAS ATTENDANT SLUGGED.

GOVERNMENT SEIZES 200 ALIENS IN RAIDS FROM COAST TO COAST

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP).—At least 200 aliens were under arrest on both seacoasts tonight following a sudden roundup ordered by the justice department to seize foreign seamen and others who are in this country illegally.

The biggest haul was made by 500 New York detectives, immigration officers and border patrolmen who rounded up 92 in lodging houses, cafés, and bars. These, with 34 taken in New Jersey, were locked up at Ellis Island, most of them on charges of illegal entry and violation of immigration laws.

Twenty-eight were rounded up in Florida and 29 in San Francisco and Oakland. Officials at Boston said the drive there was "highly successful" but declined to disclose the number arrested.

The roundup, launched unexpectedly by the justice department Saturday night, was said to be aimed particularly at German and Italian seamen.

BRITISH MINERS IN OTHER JOBS TO BE RECALLED

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18.—Miners will receive a guaranteed wage as soon as the essential work order governing the coal mining industry comes into effect, THE TRIBUNE learned tonight. Pit workers may be recalled from the army and munitions works to return to their original work. The heavy coal production program and the loss of labor from the industry has made it necessary to conserve man power in the mines.

BRITISH FLEET'S BASE NOW A CITY OF 'BLITZ' SCARS

Portsmouth Target Many Times Since August.

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, May 18.—Portsmouth, famous home of the British navy, has, with London, received the most consistent attention of Nazi night raiders. The Nazi policy of selecting one British provincial town or seaport for a series of night raids is comparatively recent, but the blitzkrieg of Portsmouth, like London, began last August. Since then that city of 253,000 inhabitants scarcely has had one week free of air raids.

American sympathy for Portsmouth air raid victims was shown by the gift of $20,000 presented by Bertrand De N. Cruger on behalf of the British War Relief Society of America, of which he is the chief in this country. A check for an equal amount also was given to the mayor of Southampton for air raid victims there. The donations were the occasion for a visit by American newspaper men to these cities.

Two of Greatest Objectives.

In these two cities the German air force has two of Britain's greatest military objectives—the famous naval dockyards of Portsmouth and the harbor of Southampton.

Central street in Portsmouth, originally named High street, held many historical associations. In High street Lord Nelson spent his last night on leave in a hotel with Lady Hamilton before setting sail for Trafalgar.

In High street the handsome duke of Buckingham was murdered. In High street Lord Howe put down the famous fleet mutiny. In a High street hotel Charles II. was married to beautiful Katherine of Braganza. In High street King William IV. held his famous fight with the watermen. All that remains of High street's historic associations are scraps of varicolored rubble.

Canvas Covers Roofs.

Like many other cities, the site of Portsmouth was an island, but the town in passing years of growth spread to the mainland. A number of hospitals have been damaged by bombs and numerous homes have been hit. Many still are habitable with roofs covered with canvas as is the custom with the present shortage of labor until war rebuilders can repair them.

The fires in Portsmouth have been some of the fiercest Britain has seen. On one particular night "buildings were burning around me so fiercely," one fireman said, "that putting a hose on them was like spitting in hell."

To escape bombs in this much blitzed city of unpredictable raids, a portion of the public whose means of livelihood necessitate their remaining at work there, make a nightly trek to the pleasant countryside.

A Nightly Pilgrimage.

There is no sign of despair or lack of confidence on the faces or in the voices of the people who make the nightly pilgrimages to comparative safety, but this evacuation is not a pleasant sight. Long queues wait at bus stops to be taken out.

The shopping center of Southampton, familiar to most Americans who have visited Britain, suffered badly and the civic center, which is pleasantly set off by itself in a park, has been seriously damaged. The town hall, art gallery, and police headquarters have been hit by bombs. Six of the largest department stores have been demolished.

"In normal times Southampton has a population of 180,000," Mayor Councillor William Lewis said. "After our first serious blitz a fair number of our residents moved to the country. We have had 60 raids to date and our population is decreasing."

Accompanying the visitors on their tour of the city was Capt. Jonah Jones, editor of Southampton's only daily—The Southern Daily Echo. All that remains of his offices and plant is a hole in the ground.

MRS. VIRGINIA LESAR.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18 [Special].—John Edward Lesar is being questioned here by police after the body of his estranged wife, Virginia, 22 years old, was found in front of a church. She had been stabbed to death. An anonymous telephone call sent police to her body.

3 HOSPITAL SHIPS ESCAPE IN RAIDS BY NAZI BOMBERS

ALEXANDRIA, Egypt, May 18 (AP).—Three British hospital ships, marked with big red crosses, were attacked heavily by Nazi dive bombers, but all escaped, the British asserted tonight. Two of them were attacked at Tobruk, Libya, and one near Crete.

The Aba, attacked 120 miles south of Crete, summoned a nearby destroyer patrol which hurried up, fired an "umbrella barrage" and drove off the dive bombers. The Aba, carrying wounded, escaped, the British said.

Three cruisers returning to this Egyptian base with destroyer and anti-aircraft ships reported the repelled attacks of 13 German dive bombers off Libya, downing four.

BRITISH BOMBERS BATTER COLOGNE FOR SECOND NIGHT

Claim Huge Fires Blaze in Many Buildings.

LONDON, May 18 (AP).—British bombers hurled a "constant rain of bombs" upon the German city of Cologne last night in the second consecutive night raid on that Nazi industrial center and left huge fires blazing among many buildings, the British reported tonight.

Unfavorable weather failed to stop the strong force of aircraft flying against Cologne on Friday and Saturday nights, the British air ministry news service said, and the raids were carried out "successfully."

"Reports by the crews show how concentrated and violent was the [Saturday night] attack."

"They scarcely had begun to bomb before large fires sprang up to meet the constant rain of bombs. There was one particularly large fire in which many buildings were ablaze."

Few Raids on Britain.

Other bombers spread over Nazi held points on the continent while the Germans gave the British a virtual "night off" from raids.

The air ministry reported docks at Rotterdam, Holland, and Boulogne, France, and other objectives in "enemy occupied territory" were attacked and unidentified "French and Dutch harbors" were raided.

Only one bomber was missing after the night's raids, the ministry said. It was acknowledged that two fighters were missing from patrol yesterday, but the ministry added that a British fighter downed a German fighter, shooting it into the sea off the southeast coast.

The admiralty announced that the trawler Susarion had been sunk, but did not disclose the number of casualties.

Germans Admit Damage.

BERLIN, May 18 (AP).—Damages to railway facilities, destruction of houses, and the killing and wounding of many civilians in British bombings in western Germany, particularly Cologne, were admitted today by German authorities.

An unidentified northern German harbor city was reported bombed tonight by a small number of RAF planes.

The British were declared to have paid the price of two planes shot down by night fighters. The Germans counted British plane losses in three days ending yesterday at 26 while admitting 11 losses themselves.

DNB said battle planes bombed two merchant ships in a convoy 350 miles west of Ireland today and left the vessels listing badly. Two ships totaling 5,500 tons were destroyed and four others damaged last night in the English channel.

TORPEDOED BRITISH FREIGHTER'S ENTIRE CREW IS RESCUED

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, May 18 (AP).—Crew members of a British freighter reached here today reporting all the ship's complement had been saved when she was torpedoed off the coast of Ireland. The men said they were in the boats about 20 minutes after their vessel was fatally damaged. They were picked up by another vessel, which landed them in Canada. Their ship was bound for New York from Britain.

FRANCE UNEASY OVER COLONIES; EYE STILL ON U. S.

American Diplomacy Seen in Vichy as Clumsy.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VICHY, France, May 18.—Tension developed here again today as France faced new international complications. Attention of high officials and diplomats still was focused on President Roosevelt's condemnation of French-German collaboration and British bombings in French mandated Syria.

There was a certain amount of uneasiness over what might happen to French colonial possessions. Expert diplomatic opinion, however, interpreted the Roosevelt statement as another way of telling Vichy that America would not permit Guadaloupe, Martinique, and other French possessions in the western hemisphere to become new Syrias. German planes en route to Iraq have been given the use of Syrian airdromes, some of which the British attacked.

U. S. Diplomacy "Naive."

Observers here are inclined to regard American diplomacy with respect to France as clumsy and naive. Tonight's Le Temps said it seems strange that Washington should object too strenuously to French-German collaboration since President Roosevelt chose the moment just after announcement of the policy of collaboration — namely: after the meeting between Adolf Hitler and Chief of State Petain at Montoire—to send his personal friend, Admiral William D. Leahy, here as American ambassador.

Discussing what it called two new facts in the international situation, which it designated as President Roosevelt's declaration of a new European order and British air attacks in Syria, Le Temps said:

"The least that can be said is that it is singularly unfortunate for Mr. Roosevelt's new attitude toward this country that it coincides with an act of history of distinct character committed by England against France."

Deplores Interpretation.

Le Temps deplored the President's interpretation of Marshal Petain's announcement of further French-German collaboration, and regretted that any idea could have been gained that France would put colonies on the Atlantic seaboard at the disposition of the Germans.

Some diplomats here expected that Ambassador Leahy would shortly be recalled to Washington for consultations, more as a part of diplomatic horseplay than as any indication of a pending break between Vichy and Washington.

Declare U. S. Diplomat's Car 'Stolen' by Germans

LONDON, May 18 (AP).—The British Broadcasting corporation reported tonight that German troops "stole" the automobile of the American vice consul in Salonika after "intimidating" with a machine gun the owner of a garage where the car was stored.

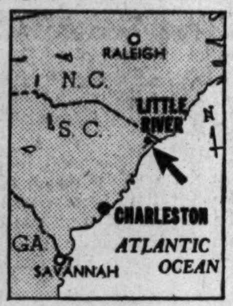
7 DEAD, 14 HURT IN EXPLOSION ON EXCURSION BOAT

Life Preservers Lost in Blast; Vessel Burns.

Little River, S. C., May 18 (AP).—An explosion aboard the excursion boat Nightingale, off Little River inlet today, killed seven of the 39 passengers and injured 14, one seriously.



Arrow locates scene of boat explosion.

The blast occurred while the craft was anchored in a calm sea about 12 miles out. Many of the men and women aboard were fishing from the boat under the midday sun.

Four bodies were recovered. Coast guard boats abandoned the search at dark, but divisional coast guard headquarters at Jacksonville, Fla., planned to send a plane to the area tomorrow to continue the search for the missing.

Four Bodies Recovered.

The bodies of T. W. Cothran and G. A. Barber, both of Salisbury, N. C., and E. R. Griffin and George B. Barfield, both of Rocky Mount, N. C., were recovered soon after the explosion.

Unaccounted for and given up for dead were Grey Barber Jr. and Jerry Barber, brothers, and Shelton Lesler, all of Salisbury.

W. A. Warton of Rocky Mount, a passenger aboard the Nightingale, said members of the crew had been emptying gasoline from a five gallon container into soft drink bottles.

The gasoline, he said, was poured into the carburetor while the engine was being worked on, and some of the liquid spilled. The gasoline became ignited and the explosion followed.

Life Preservers Destroyed.

"Fire seemed to break out everywhere," said Warton. "Some of the people became frightened and leaped into the ocean. The explosion destroyed all but a few of the life preservers.

"Passengers who were unable to get life preservers held to pieces of timber and débris until they were picked up."

After the blast, the ship burned slowly to the water's edge. Thirty-two passengers and the crew of four were rescued by two other excursion boats, the Edward and the Cadet. The Nightingale was owned and piloted by Douglas Seabastian of Beaufort, S. C.

Those responsible for the paper were reported arrested.

ROOSEVELT JR. HURT IN CRASH OF HIS NEW CAR

Walpole, Mass., May 18 (AP).—Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. was injured today when a tire blowout sent his new convertible sedan against an embankment.

The accident occurred about 5 a. m., police said, as young Roosevelt was returning to the naval training station at Newport, R. I., where he recently reported for active duty as an ensign. He was taken to Massachusetts General hospital, which reported that he was not seriously injured, adding: "He expects to return to his ship before long." Police said he suffered cuts on the head and face.

The crackup was reported to police by another of the President's sons, John, shortly after the overturned car had been discovered at noon by State Trooper Arthur F. Chaisson, who said the top and fenders of the automobile were badly damaged.

CHURCHILL SCANS HESS FACTS; MAY RIP OFF SECRECY

British Hope for Report to Commons This Week.

LONDON, May 18 (AP).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill pondered today a detailed secret report on statements by Rudolf Hess since the Nazi deputy Fuehrer parachuted to earth in Scotland, and the restive British public hoped he'd lift at least a corner of the veil from the mystery before the house of commons this week.

The British Broadcasting corporation continued a barrage of broadcasts to Germany about the Hess affair. Its latest theme was that the Nazi radio in keeping quiet before its home audience while pouring out a variety of conflicting accounts for foreign consumption.

The British public continues to be eager for clarification of the widely differing versions published here.

Hint at Valuable Information.

Some curbstone kibitzers suggested that official silence thus far might be a sign the government has obtained such valuable information from Hess that it would be able to wring maximum benefit from keeping the Germans in long suspense.

British broadcasts to Germany referred to "widespread reports of an extensive purge in Germany and many arrests of Hess' associates, especially occultists," a reference to German assertions that the No. 3 Nazi had been ill advised by fortune tellers and mesmerizers.

The Germans also were told that all telephone communication between Germany and Sweden was cut at 6 p. m. Friday, "precisely the same thing as happened Saturday night, the night of the Hess flight."

Hundreds of Arrests Reported.

Exchange Telegraph, British news agency, in a dispatch from Goteborg, Sweden, quoted the Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Goteborgposten as saying that Hess' wife was arrested "two days ago and that a multitude of arrests followed the escape of Hess to Scotland—in Berlin alone there have been hundreds."

[Berlin dispatches on Saturday quoted authorized Nazis to the effect that Frau Hess did not figure in the Hess investigation and that she had appeared at her husband's office the two previous days, ostensibly to remove personal belongings.]

"Police are arresting in restaurants," the Exchange Telegraph dispatch went on, "persons, irrespective of their political views, who discuss the Hess affair.

"Several fresh prisoners have arrived at Sachsenhausen concentration camp. Secret police are questioning Prof. Messerschmitt [designer of the famed German fighting plane] about the plane in which Hess flew to Scotland."

Messerschmitt Arrest Denied.

BERLIN, May 18 (AP).—Foreign reports that Willi Messerschmitt, designer and builder of German fighter planes, has been arrested in connection with the flight of Rudolf Hess are "without foundation," the official news bureau said tonight.

Tells of Curb on High Nazis.

New York, May 18 (AP).—The British official radio, in a broadcast heard here today, stated:

"The Stockholm correspondent of the independent French agency reports that Adolf Hitler has prohibited any travel, even for private purposes, by people in his entourage. The correspondent says that this has prevented Field Marshal Goering from going on a hunting trip he had planned."

ARMS PROGRAM OFFICIALS BARE OWN DISSENSION

Report Rips War and Navy Departments.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Senator Brewster.

Washington, D. C., May 18.—Dissension within the administration over the lagging arms production program was revealed today with the publication of a bitterly critical report by a group composed of officials in the Office of Production Management, government advisors, and others holding federal positions.

The report, marked "preliminary and confidential," was made public with the explanation that its contents have to be disclosed due to "circumstances over which we have no control." Some of the basic data included in the report figured in a speech made by Senator Ralph O. Brewster [R., Me.] on Friday asserting that "chaotic management" had made it impossible to reach the arms production goal set for the current year.

The report presumably was prepared for the confidential inspection of government officials connected with the arms program and apparently was made public only after Senator Brewster's speech, in the opinion of the group, had made its publication advisable.

Headed by Batt.

The war and navy departments were singled out for particular criticism by the group, which is headed by W. L. Batt, deputy director of OPM's production division. The two military branches have concentrated on getting as large appropriations as possible from congress rather than determining "the armament requirements needed to obtain superiority over the enemy," it was said.

The army especially was derided for its contention that "it could not plan for what equipment it might need because it does not know where or whom it may have to fight in the world of today."

Reflecting the stand of the Roosevelt cabinet that war with Germany is inevitable, the report said of the army's argument:

"The army certainly knows who our potential enemies are and if the military intelligence service is performing its function, the army should know reasonably well what equipment those enemies have and where it is.

"Firstest with Mostest."

"We should know as a minimum the quantity of materials required to combat the axis in any theater of war, and by preparing for this minimum it will be that much easier to secure the real superiority which comes from getting there 'fustest with the mostest.'"

The pretense that the United States is "making a magnificent defense effort in accordance with a carefully conceived defense program," an impression cultivated by many government spokesmen, was ridiculed in the report.

"Close inspection reveals that the effort is not nearly strenuous enough and that the programs are not at all clearly and well developed," it stated. "Behind the talk of billions for defense lies the plain and simple fact that funds appropriated lag far behind our needs for military materials and that production lags behind the appropriations."

Cites an "Exaggeration."

The present program "on paper" calls for an outlay of about 40 billion dollars in 1941 and 1942, the report noted, asserting that these paper figures exaggerated the American defense effort on the side of optimism.

"Out of the 17 billion 500 million dollars scheduled for 1941, 4 billion dollars has been laid aside for essential but nonarmament items, such as pay rolls and food for our army and navy and food for the British," the report declared. "This leaves a subtotal of 13 billion 500 million dollars for industrial production.

"But here again the figure must be reduced, as 3 billion 700 million dollars is allocated for the building of new industrial capacity and equipment. Even on paper, therefore, less than 10 billion dollars remains for outright war materials, the real shooting equipment."

Noting that only 2 billion 600 million dollars was spent in the first three months of the year, the report added:

"This lagging behind seems tragic enough, but it becomes even worse when one examines the character of the expenditures to date. For many items of military equipment the country must build new production capacities before the equipment can be produced. Early completion of the requisite facilities is not to be expected.

"Of the 3 billion 700 million dollars scheduled for plant construction and equipment, only 1 billion 900 million dollars has been turned to the task thus far and only a small part of this amount contracted for has actually been put to the physical labor of construction."

Three recommendations were made for accelerating the arms program. One agency, the report said, "must state the armament requirements needed to obtain superiority over the enemy. Another must take these objectives as regards military material and translate them into the facilities required. A third agency must then schedule and push thru the production in the shortest possible time."

In addition to OPM Director Batt as chairman the group has for its executive committee chairman Prof. Alvin H. Hansen, who has served as a state department economist; Robert J. Watt, labor's representative on the federal advisory board for vocational education, an arms program adjunct; Charles W. Taussig, member of the original Roosevelt brain trust, now serving as chairman of the National Youth administration's advisory committee, and Morris L. Cooke, who serves via the OPM as a White House advisor on production methods with particular reference to use of idle industrial facilities.

POST-WAR TRADE PROGRAM LAID DOWN BY HULL

Its 5 Points Are Firmly Internationalistic.

need be in doubt as to the situation that would confront this nation, in the realm of trade as elsewhere, in the event of an axis victory," he remarked.

"Strength and Endurance."

Hull declared that the after-war economic program had "strength and endurance."

"It will stand long after the war built arrangements based on disheartened or imprisoned peoples by military conquest have fallen to pieces and have vanished utterly," he continued.

"There still are people who do not see that if, when the present conflict ends, we do not have a system of open trade, they will not be able either to buy or sell except on terms really laid down by the military forces and political authorities of the countries with which they have to deal.

"Unless a system of open trade becomes firmly established, there will be chronic political instability and recurrent economic collapse. There will never be peace in any real sense of the term.

An "International Order."

"In the final reckoning, the problem becomes one of establishing the foundations of an international order in which independent nations coöperate freely with each other for their mutual gain—of a world order, not new but renewed, which liberates rather than enslaves.

"We shall not be able to do this until we have a world free from imminent military danger and clear of malign political intrigue. At present the world is scourged by both. We can expect no healthy development until the menace of conquest has been brought to an end. Only then will the time have arrived when steel is valued, not in terms of the bombs that can be made of it, but in terms of the instruments of peaceful life into which it can be forged; and when foreign trade has reverted again from cargoes of weapons and explosives to commodities that nourish and heal and enrich their consumers.

Facing "Harsh Facts."

"This nation is resolved to evade no issues and to face harsh facts. We believe that there can be created a safer and more prosperous world. We have the tools—the resources, the brains, the hands—with which to help make it such.

"But first the tide of force must be turned back. Once that is done, we and other nations can reëstablish an open, coöperative economic life in which trade may increase, economic welfare may grow, civilization may advance, and the peaceful and benevolent instincts of masses of now prostrate people may once more flourish in the really worthwhile ways of life."

Twenty-eight boys and 14 girls were selected by the Chicago Heart association yesterday to attend the first of several heart camps to be operated by the organization this summer. They will leave for Sunset camp, 40 miles northwest of the city near Bartlett, Ill., May 26.

WARNS U. S. WAR ENTRANCE WOULD DOOM DEMOCRACY

Entry of the United States into the European war would doom democracy in America, Dr. A. Eustace Haydon, professor of comparative religion at the University of Chicago, warned yesterday in an address before an America First anti-war rally in Graham Taylor hall, 5757 University avenue.

Dr. A. Eustace Haydon

The ultimate victory of democracy, Dr. Haydon said, depends not upon an awesome display of brute force, but upon the success of America in giving body and reality to the age old dream of a true democracy.

Urges Setting of an Example.

"No tyranny would be safe from the contagion of an America in which men were living the joyous and rich life now possible," he said. "Half of the world could not be long held in serfdom if the other half was radiant with the beauties of an actualized democracy."

The United States must prove to the world that democracy can work, he declared.

"That is the only way to win the future for our cause," Dr. Haydon added. "Crusaders under the banner of democracy who march to free mankind should be determined that democracy, like charity, should begin at home."

Asks Democracy's Extension.

"If we are really loyal to the ideal we are being called upon to fight to defend," he continued, "we must begin here by curing the inequalities of our own life—by economic justice; by eliminating the poll tax; by opening the doors for the Negro; by crushing anti-Semitism; by freeing our people from the fear of hunger, homelessness, and unemployment, and by breaking the shackles of special privilege that fetter our freedom.

"America must first build a true democracy before it takes up arms against the totalitarian form of government, or democracy may die in the hands of its defenders."

CONSIDER FIRING DURKIN, WRIGHT URGES GOVERNOR

Springfield, Ill., May 18 (AP).—State Treasurer Warren Wright asked Gov. Dwight H. Green today to "consider" the "instant dismissal" of Martin Durkin, director of the state department of labor.

Wright set forth, in a letter to the governor, that Durkin had "allowed the use of his name" in a Chicago newspaper article which Wright interpreted as "pure political sniping and propaganda designed to belittle your administration and the Republican party in the eyes of the people of Illinois."

Wright and Green are Republicans. Durkin, a Democrat, was appointed by the late Gov. Henry Horner, a Democrat.

WILL REPORT TO GREEN.

Martin Durkin, director of the state department of labor, reached at his home in Chicago last night, said he would write a letter to Gov. Green, making a full report on the newspaper article in question. "Anything further will have to come from him," Durkin said. "I am not offering to resign."

YOUNG MOTORIST KILLED.

NEW "SELF-CLEANING" HOUSE PAINT made by DU PONT

The new Du Pont House Paint not only starts brilliantly white, but it stays white longer. It is "self-cleaning"! It forms a tough, durable film which protects the surface from rust, rot, or decay. Like all paints, it collects dirt on exposure to the elements. As time goes on, however, a fine white powder forms on the surface of this new paint. This powder is washed away by heavy rains, carrying the dirt with it and exposing a fresh white surface. Usually this self-cleaning process starts after a few months of exposure under normal conditions of weather, but may be delayed under unusual climatic or dirt-collecting conditions. Because the "self-cleaning" process is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

Du Pont House Paint costs no more than other good paints . . . is more economical because it needs fewer repaintings. Next time, ask your painter to use Du Pont House Paint.

There's a Du Pont dealer near you. For his name, see your classified Telephone Directory, or phone Brunswick 6900, Du Pont Co., 2100 Elston Ave.

4 OFFICIALS URGE NEW CITIZENS TO MAKE SACRIFICES

Ickes, Wallace, Rayburn, Biddle Speak.

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP).—A group of high government officials called upon new citizens of the United States today to make every sacrifice necessary to preserve democracy in this country.

They spoke on the radio, or at meetings in observance of "I Am an American day," recently proclaimed by President Roosevelt.

In New York's Central Park a crowd, which police estimated at 675,000, heard Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes declare America must give to Britain "everything needed to beat the life out of the common enemy."

"We must greet with raucous laughter the corroding arguments of our appeasers and Fascists," he added. "They doubt democracy. We affirm it triumphantly so that all the world may hear.

"Here in America we have something so worth while living for that it is worth dying for."

Biddle Makes Plea.

Francis Biddle, solicitor general, told a Washington audience that defeat of England would mean arming America "beyond a point where any thought of liberal peace could enter." It would also mean, he continued, trebling our budget "to meet the might of the new tyrant" and sweating our labor "with the long hours we had gradually abolished.

"With our help, counting no costs," Biddle added, "there can be no question of England's survival."

Speaking in Washington on a program sponsored by the National Education association, Vice President Henry A. Wallace expressed the hope that "on this day our fine German citizens will join with our fine citizens from every other land in thanking God for America—for this hemisphere which we mean to keep free today and for the centuries to come.

Appeals to German-Americans.

"America is not a land of the whites alone, the Negroes alone, the Catholics alone or the Anglo-Saxons alone. We like the Germans in America, provided only that they accept the American idea and do not directly or indirectly give comfort to the Hitler idea of racial superiority, which is so utterly opposed to what America stands for."

Sam Rayburn [D., Tex.], speaker of the house of representatives, asserted in a radio address that "we will remain free in the United States of America as long as the men and women composing the citizenship of America are thru patriotism and love of country, willing to make the sacrifices try, willing to make the sacrifices that are necessary."

CHICAGO ROTC CADETS WIN U. OF I. MILITARY HONORS

Urbana, Ill., May 18 [Special].—Cadets of the University of Illinois ROTC brigade, many of them from Chicago and suburbs, will receive awards for outstanding military excellence at ceremonies to be held Thursday morning.

Gerald W. Homann of Mattoon will be installed as next year's cadet colonel. He will receive a saber from the Illinois Daughters of the American Revolution, to be presented by Mrs. O. H. Crist, state regent, and a $50 scholarship from the American Legion auxiliary, to be presented by Mrs. Joseph Mieczywski, department president.

The university gold medal will be presented to James H. Fisher, 3628 Wilton avenue, Chicago, by President Arthur Cutts Willard. The medal is awarded annually by the university board of trustees to the best second year basic course student. The Hazelton medal, for outstanding work in the first basic course, will be presented to Bradford G. Blount, 723 Lincoln avenue, Evanston.

FOUND DEAD OF MONOXIDE FUMES.

Help Return ASCAP Music to W-G-N

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

ASCAP'S ROUSING MUSIC SALUTES MUTUAL SYSTEM

W-G-N Program Offers Galaxy of Stars.

"And there you have it, ladies and gentlemen—America's most beautiful music by America's most beloved composers for America's music loving public!" With those words George Jessel, comedian and master of ceremonies, wound up Chicago's contribution last night to ASCAP's salute to the Mutual Broadcasting system.

Half an hour of a 90 minute broadcast over the coast to coast Mutual network originated in the W-G-N audience studio.

The music of ASCAP [American Society of Composers, Authors, and Publishers] had been off the air since Jan. 1.

30 Piece Orchestra Heard.

ASCAP returned last night with the help of Jessel, Conductor Ted Fio Rito and a 30 piece orchestra, Gertrude Niesen, singing star; Eddy Duchin, pianist with the magic fingers of radio, and Dennis Morgan, movie singing star. William A. Bacher produced the show.

The first half hour of the program was broadcast from WOR, New York City, with a comparable gathering of stars. The last half hour came from KHJ and the Don Lee network, Hollywood, Cal., with a host of movie celebrities and composers.

New York's closing theme of "God Bless America" was taken up at W-G-N by Fio Rito and the orchestra. A medley of Fio Rito tunes—"I Never Knew What Love Could Do," "No, No, Nora," and "King for a Day"—was followed by Jessel singing "Will You Love Me in December?" Jessel then sang his own "Roses in December."

Audience Joins in Medley.

Miss Niesen was heard in "Begin the Beguine" and "Night and Day." Duchin played George Gershwin's "The Man I Love," and the audience joined him in singing a rousing medley—"Take Me Out to the Ball Game," "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," and "School Days."

One number was the story of how Irving Berlin wrote "A Pretty Girl Is Like a Melody." Jessel told the story and Morgan sang the song.

The program then shifted to Hollywood to the tune of "Say It With Music."

Thousands View Flower Show at Lasker Estate

The estate is on Old Mill road, one mile west of Waukegan road [42-A]. The festival will extend thru June 1 and the gardens, now featuring tulips, will be open from 9:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

CHINESE DRIVES HURL BACK JAPS; CLAIM 2,700 SLAIN

Battle Rages at Port of Foochow.

CHUNGKING, China, May 18 (AP).—The Chinese Central News reported successes for Chinese forces on several fronts today.

The Chinese took the offensive and scored gains on all sectors in Chekiang, coastal province south of Shanghai, the report said, while in northern Hupeh Japanese were said to have been dislodged Friday from Tsayoyang, 85 miles west of the Peking-Hankow railway, after 2,700 of their number were slain. A large number of prisoners were captured and a large quantity of war material seized, the report said of this operation.

Foochow Under Fire.

Foochow, Fukien province port half way between Shanghai and Hongkong, has been under Chinese shellfire since Friday and Chinese troops are battling Japanese at the outskirts of the city, the report added.

Chinese also were said to be successfully counterattacking in Shansi province north of the Yellow river.

Claim 33,449 Chinese Killed.

SHANGHAI, May 18 (AP).—A Japanese army announcement claimed today that 33,449 Chinese were killed and 10,479 captured along with large war stores in 11 days of fighting in southern Shansi and northern Honan provinces.

An additional 2,500 Chinese were reported killed and 400 taken prisoner south of Chuki, Fukien province.

TROUSERS AND $45 STOLEN.

Burglars yesterday broke into the home of George Oshinski at 5844 Eddy street and stole his trousers, containing $45.

Veterinarians Are Given Deferred Rating in Draft

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP).—Selective service headquarters today advised local draft boards to defer military training of veterinary doctors and students. Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, acting director of selective service, said surveys showed a "national overall shortage" of veterinarians.

Save Our Republic

WHAT WE KNOW.

In their frenzy for war the interventionists would blind the nation to the nature of the task they seek to load on it. Their whole effort is to get us in, and they refuse to discuss what we would do if we got in. Yet all those still willing to be governed by their thoughts instead of their emotions can see with sufficient clarity the suicidal nature of the task that a declaration of war would impose.

We know, if we will consult the map, that regardless of comparative air force strength the British cannot get the best of a bombing war because of their geographical handicaps. They have relatively few air fields, the Nazis many. They are attacked from the nearby belt of occupied countries. They can retaliate effectively only by flying across that belt to get at German cities.

We know that the only alternative to indecisive bombing warfare is the invasion of continental Europe, which the British cannot undertake alone because of numerical weakness. We should realize that to offset that inferiority the United States would have to increase its armed forces to 8,000,000 or 10,000,000 men.

These troops would have to make England their base. The British have no other suitable foothold in or near Europe. To transport this army and its equipment, and keep it supplied with food and munitions, would take as much shipping as is needed today to supply the United Kingdom. If there is a shortage of shipping today, it can be seen how utterly impossible it would be to transport and supply an expeditionary force of the size necessary to accomplish its task.

Since shipping would not be available to supply both the army and the population of Britain, the only alternative would be to evacuate a large proportion of the British civilian population to overseas dominions. This would not be a welcome project to either the people or their rulers. The people would be unwilling to leave their homes, but the rulers would know that once they were established overseas, they would be unwilling to return, and that Britain would remain permanently a minor power, the outpost of overseas dominions.

We know that even if an AEF were established in Great Britain the winning of a foothold on the continent would be the most bloody and expensive business in the history of war. Nor should we be too certain that such a force would be welcomed by the people of Europe whom it would presumably be fighting to free. It would be received with apathy, if not hostility, by the people whose countries it would have to devastate. It would not be welcome in Spain. From the way Austrian troops have been reported to be fighting, their land would not welcome Americans as deliverers. Neither would the countries such as Hungary, Bulgaria, and Croatia who have benefited, at least territorially, by the German advance.

To set down the conditions under which the United States would have to intervene in Europe if its intervention were to produce a British victory is to pile one impossibility on top of another. Yet it is those impossibilities that the war mongers are asking the nation to undertake.

FUNERAL HOMES.

The undertakers of this country deserve a word of thanks for preserving some fine examples of American domestic architecture.

As our towns have grown in population, the big houses a few blocks from the courthouse on Main street or Washington street have commonly fallen upon evil days. The business district has extended to and beyond the old mansions and they are far too large for the needs of a modern family. The descendants of the original owner have moved out toward the edge of town. There they live in Spanish or brick veneer Georgian villas in the shadow of two car garages and saplings. Perhaps in another 50 years the saplings will achieve some of the magnificence of the maples which shade the old places down in town. At any rate it does no harm to hope so.

The old houses are a problem. Some of them have been torn down to be replaced by filling stations. Others provide accommodations for tourists. Some have been converted into salons de beauté and tearooms, but for the most part these adaptations have not been successful. Many of the old houses look seedy. They need paint and repairs.

In almost every town, however, one or two of the big houses have been converted into so-called funeral homes. Their lawns are kept trimmed. The houses do not lack for paint. The porches do not sag. It is probably well within the truth to say that the undertakers of this nation have done more for the preservation of fine examples of American domestic architecture than has been accomplished by the American Institute of Architects.

For the most part the undertakers have chosen their establishments with taste. In the older settlements of the east and south some fine examples of colonial and Greek revival dwellings have been taken over. In the middle west the funeral home has the air of comfort and spaciousness which the new houses lack.

The living today have small use for mansions. The word has almost disappeared from the contemporary vocabulary. They survive into our time chiefly to serve the dead; but fortunately they survive. Thanks to the undertakers some of the best of the old houses, rich in suggestions of an era of peace, stability, and ease, are still to be seen in all their dignity.

BIG CITIES AND BIG WARS.

The census bureau reports that nearly half of the population of the United States now lives in or near a big city. The bureau recognizes 140 so-called metropolitan areas which together, in 1940, accounted for 47.8 per cent of all the people in the United States. Almost all the population growth in the last decade took place in these areas; while the population of the rest of the country grew by fewer than 700,000, the metropolitan areas picked up nearly 8¼ million inhabitants.

Thanks to the war boom, this trend no doubt has been accelerated but if only the 1930-'40 rate of growth is continued for a few years longer, well over half the nation's population will be found in or near a large city.

In George Washington's day nine-tenths of the people of the United States lived on farms and in those days a farm family was far more nearly self-sufficient than such a family is today. The typical farm produced almost all the food consumed by the family except a few specialties like salt. The farm produced substantially all the clothing, much of the furniture, all the fuel, and many if not most of the farm tools.

It is significant that even in this relatively simple society, in which the units had small need to exchange products, there could be and there were from time to time grave economic disturbances. The instability of the currency during and after the revolutionary war caused intense suffering and contributed to most serious unrest, of which Shays' rebellion is but one example among many. Those incidents occurred, it should be remembered, at a time when an overwhelming majority of the people could satisfy a very large proportion of their wants thru their own efforts and could meet much of the rest of their needs thru barter in their own neighborhoods.

Today half the nation's population lives in metropolitan areas and with the fewest exceptions none of these 60 odd millions can maintain life for more than a few weeks or months if the flow of goods in and out of the cities is interrupted. The situation of the farmers is not much better. They now are quite incapable of supplying themselves with clothing, with tools, and even with many essential items of food. From this unprecedented degree of interdependence our society has achieved a higher standard of living than was ever known before, but it would be foolish to pretend that ours is not at the same time a highly vulnerable arrangement.

It is against this background that the clamor of the war shouters should be examined. They have little or nothing to say about the risks which their war would impose. They do not suggest that the stupendous costs of the war, if it lasts more than a few years as it well may, will destroy the national credit and in doing so may destroy the nation's currency as well in a runaway inflation.

Even as matters stand today, the probability is that there will be unrest after the munitions industries are demobilized, for millions of men and women will be thrown out of work. If at that time the exchange of goods were to be impeded by monetary instability the resultant economic collapse would be appalling. It would be futile to attempt to support the inhabitants of the metropolitan cities on the dole, for the food, the fuel, and other raw materials which the dole might buy would not be forthcoming.

The inevitable answer to such a situation is compulsion. If we go to war to save the democracies we may emerge from it with a system of forced labor. Millions starved in Russia under such a régime; perhaps we might make a better showing here, but at the best we should have exchanged a system of freedom for a system of tyranny and the standard of living of every one would suffer a sharp and a permanent decline.

That is what the war shouters are asking the people of this country to risk by participating in a war which we didn't start and which we can still avoid with honor.

THE GREATEST POWER AGAINST TYRANNY.

The enemy the dictators of Europe most fear is the publication and distribution of information. No more valuable evidence of the power of a free press and free communications was ever given than is to be found in the complete suppression of all free agencies in dominated Europe. It is an offense punishable by imprisonment to listen to a broadcast not controled by the government. A German who is found bootlegging news is summarily punished. Newspapers print nothing that is not dictated or inspired by Nazi control. No one in Europe except by stealth and at great personal risk learns anything that is happening in his own country or elsewhere.

People, no doubt, whisper rumors, but they do that at the peril of having a spy report them. Free information is the menace which the dictators dare not allow to raise its voice or run its presses. It is probably impossible for the most rigorous tyranny to suppress all underground or overhead channels, but for the most part all of Europe lives in the darkest ignorance of events and opinions which the autocracy undertakes to keep from them.

Free speech, free press, free communication of opinion and information and intelligence make a free people, and when it is intended to take freedom away from the people the most persistent and continuous repression is imposed on the flow of ideas and news.

Editorial of the Day

STATE TRAVEL COST.

[Indianapolis News.]

A new schedule for state employés who travel, limiting them to $3, $4.50, and $5 a day in intrastate business and $6 a day for journeys outside Indiana, follows the system established for federal employés. The use of state owned cars for other than official business is to be curtailed and obtaining gasoline from state garages will be more difficult. Budget officials estimate that between $20,000 and $25,000 a year will be saved.

With a growing demand for curtailment of unnecessary expenses, the budget committee might see what could be accomplished in reducing the number of cars provided for officials and appointees. Officials who are paid the highest salaries seem to draw the most expensive automobiles, with state policemen acting as escorts on trips that have nothing to do with state business.

In private life, the man who makes a reasonable salary provides his own car and maintains it. Two of the new state officials turned in the automobiles assigned them, thus setting an example for others.

MR. PEPYS MEETS AN ACTRESS.

19th May—At dinner the other night met Helen Hayes, the famous play-actress, whom I have known since she acted parts like Bab the Sub-Deb, but now, tho unchanged in looks, she is acting Shakespeare's Viola, and right gayly, too. We talked of by-gone actresses whose names are in the traditions, and she said the only means of knowing how they recited Shakespeare is from some old phonograph records. She had heard a record of Ellen Terry speaking the "quality of mercy" speech from "The Merchant of Venice" and said that it was most peculiar, causing modern players to howl with laughter until their sides ached.

I told her Ellen Terry recited beautifully and she said she did not doubt it, but the way old phonograph records were made caused the strangeness. The invention was new then and the reciter had to fit her mouth into a kind of funnel in delivering the speech, and this caused effects like hollering down a rain barrel. Then she imitated Miss Terry on the old record, and it sounded not like hollering down a rain barrel but like a banshee wailing in a country graveyard.

Have been doing much walking abroad of late in strange parts of the town, partly because it amuses me and partly because I am restless these days and want to get out of my rut, like Mr. Hess. Often I cannot find companions for my walks because the Americans, wheeling about in their cars and sitting thru double feature movies, have become a weak-legged race; yet, like Mr. Hazlitt, the essayist, I find it easy to be alone. . . . Took my dog, Dido, to the dentist, who removed 12 of her teeth, which were harming her, and she will be a better dog thereby because she has 30 left to bite with, and yet I was sorry for her, poor creature.

SPRING IN BELMONT HARBOR. II.

(Answer to verses printed May 8.)

But newly moored in Belmont bay,
One little boat has this to say:

Since autumn chill put me to rout,
Distressing times have come about.

The hand that ruled me, fore and aft,
Poor kid, was taken in the draft.

And so, alas, for woe or weal,
An unsure hand is on my wheel.

Tho unafraid where dangers lurk,
I'll never feature a Dunkirk.

For awkward zeal is in command—
A timid lubber from the land.

True, little boats helped to do that chore,
But this galoot must cruise near shore.

A Fine Patriotic Saying.

Regarding the origin of the saying, "Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none," see "The Romantic Story of Texas," by Peter Molyneaux [1936], page 326:

"Houston told the inhabitants of Gonzales that they must leave their homes and prepare to move eastward. At the same time he gave orders to the volunteers, who numbered about 300, to get ready to march. [Col.] Burleson made an impassioned address to his men, stirring their feelings to a high pitch, during the course of which it is said he used the famous phrase, 'Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none'."

SONG OF A STAY-AT-HOME.

Let me go vagabonding down
The open road again;
Down thorofares of great renown
Or some secluded lane;
The Burma Road, the Natchez Trace,
The Road to Mandalay,
The road from here to any place . . .
To Quito or Cathay.

O, I'll see every famous spot
Where history was made,
And toast each tired compatriot
With cool drinks in the shade.
And if a place appeals to me
I'll just decide to stay;
A happy castaway I'll be . . .
If I could get away.

Problem for Cryptographers.

If you like oddities in epitaphs, consider the sentimental verses on a tombstone in Bingen-on-the-Rhine, in which a widower pays a pretty tribute to his departed wife. If the first words in each line are read in acrostic fashion, it says: "Wohl ist Ihr und auch mir." [She's well off and so am I.] J. T. H.

VITAMIN C AIDS HEALING.

MANY of us are victims of a mild type of scurvy [too little vitamin C]. The lack is great enough to hold the system substantially below par. Minor signs, such as tender gums, are observed occasionally. In all probability, however, the most significant indication involves the slow and imperfect healing of wounds.

Physicians have long noted that occasionally they will encounter a patient whose cuts and scratches mend so gradually that he is singled out as possessing some peculiarity. We now know the answer—not enough C. Strangely enough, this exact situation was commented upon by an 18th century writer, George Anson, who described scurvy as characterized by the delayed repair of lacerations. In addition, he reported that old scars might break down into open sores.

Research has now shown, beyond question of doubt, just what happens. When one does not take an ample quantity of citrus fruits or other sources of C, all of the steps in the restoration of broken tissues are retarded. Under the microscope, the cells appear immature. The elements of repair seem to be floating in too much fluid. They are thus prevented from forming a network of firm fibers.

In order to determine whether Anson was right or not, scurvy was deliberately induced in a number of guinea pigs. Old scars ruptured, altho there was no evidence of an infection. First of all the edges became red and jellylike. Later, under exercise, the line of adhesion melted away. Then came a startling transformation. As soon as the animals were fed large rations of C, the lesions promptly took on a healthy appearance and recovery was effected without delay.

One of the physicians conducting these experiments voluntarily avoided fruits and vegetables until the percentage of C in the circulation was quite too low for health. A skin incision was made about an inch and a half in length in an effort to see what would happen. Ascorbic acid [C] was then administered until the blood level approached what it should be. Then a second gash was made, whereupon both cuts returned to normal, speedily.

Surgeons realize that in those individuals who are obliged to undergo abdominal operations, steady improvement is all important; and the employment of generous doses of C will reduce the hospital stay appreciably in many cases. To bring this about, the use of fruits and fresh vegetables will do more than all the dressings that may be applied. Of course, it is assumed that there is no infection and that the work has been performed in a skilful and cleanly manner.

Not only are muscles and the deeper tissues thus affected, but the epidermis likewise. It is possible that the absence of a scar means that plenty of C was present, whereas a sizable one may show in a wide deposit of glistening white connective tissue, when this principle is wanting.

All of this means that both before and after surgery—other than that of an emergency character—the patient must be well dosed with a diet high in vitamins. If absorption from the digestive tract is poor, hydrochloric acid [which may be lacking in the digestive juice] is helpful in promoting the process.

A strong physique and a ruddy complexion are not proof that an abundance of this vitamin is being imbibed. The blood can be tested easily so that there need be no guesswork about it. This is particularly important when we are dealing with extensive wounds, such as those which come as a result of traffic accidents.

Yes—fruits are needful for every mending job undertaken by the body.

NOT MILK ALONE.

A. M. writes: Can a person subsist on milk from birth until death?

REPLY.

No. All mammals wean their young. This is a wise provision of nature. Milk is an ideal food for early infancy and an excellent source of nutrition always. But it does not supply all the elements required in a balanced diet. One would have to take too much.

PYORRHEA.

A. F. writes: Several of my teeth are washing away at the roots and the gums are very sensitive. How can this be corrected?

REPLY.

Consult your dentist as this may be a sign of pyorrhea. Large doses of vitamin C [1 to 2 pints of tomato juice daily] are advised.

SAME THING OVER AGAIN.

Chicago, May 16.—Away back in '17 there was a great to-do about making the world safe for democracy. There was the same lambasting of any one who dared think or say anything other than the popular utterances of the day.

It's being repeated but with the addition that the mold for public thought is more skilfully constructed. We mustn't think or say anything in favor of American interests any more. Even men who possess unimpeachable qualifications, who have made it their business to see at first hand the actualities across the seas are being treated like naughty boys because they dare give sound to those facts for the enlightenment of all of us.

If to "make the world safe for democracy" is to perpetuate this sort of thing, then let's have done with it and do something to make the world safe for republics.

Begins to appear that about the only difference in dictatorships is one of geography. EX-SERVICE.

REFRACTED LIGHT.

Gary, Ind., May 14.—In today's TRIBUNE under the heading "Loop Gets Peek at Gary Thru Weather Trick," you tell of being able to see Gary and the sand dunes from Chicago.

My home is located at Dune Acres, 15 miles east of Gary and from our home we can easily see Chicago on clear days and this is, of course, over half the days of the year. Due to the natural curvature, we do not see the shape of the buildings, but we see enough of the upper parts to tell easily what buildings they are and I estimate that it's some 30 miles away.

What I want to know is why at times we can see water far beyond the buildings of Chicago. I suppose this is known as a mirage. Just the other night as the sun was going down behind a low line of clouds back of Chicago, we had a beautiful sight as the edge of this cloud for many miles looked like a prairie fire, but the buildings of Chicago looked as if they were sitting in the middle of the lake.

Because of the many times we have been asked what causes that, we surely would like to have some one tell us.

THANKS FOR ROTC MEDALS.

Chicago, May 11.—In the name of the Steinmetz ROTC, I wish to thank THE TRIBUNE for the medals presented yesterday by Mr. Philip Maxwell at the annual inspection of the unit. The ROTC has been, in my opinion, a very fine influence upon the youth of this school, and THE TRIBUNE is a very strong factor in promoting this attitude.

FOR A SKYPILOT'S SQUADRON.

Chicago, May 15.—Now that Dr. Albert W. Palmer and 28 influential ministers have organized and patterned themselves after Senator Wheeler and Col. Lindbergh, it is in order to form the Skypilots' Safety Squadron to take care of the other side of this highly controversial question.

J. MORRISTON THOMAS,

LIGHT ON MONROE DOCTRINE.

Chicago, May 14.—Recently in a speech Phil La Follette said in part:

"The war party talks about the Monroe Doctrine, about its effectiveness in keeping Europe out of America, but they never tell you about that part of that doctrine in which America agrees to stay out of Europe and her wars."

I'd like to back up the foregoing by briefly quoting an authoritative interpretation of said document:

"Monroe's message embodied Jefferson's doctrine of the two spheres—the American sphere and the European sphere which should be kept rigorously separated by a line drawn thru the Atlantic ocean; otherwise it was feared that the United States would become embroiled in the ceaseless quarrels of the old world, and republican institutions would be threatened."

Also, here is an interpretation of the Monroe Doctrine as given by Franklin D. Roosevelt Dec. 28, 1933, in a speech in Washington, before the Woodrow Wilson Foundation:

"It therefore has seemed clear to me as President that the time has come to supplement and implement the declaration of President Wilson by the further declaration that the definite policy of the United States from now is one opposed to armed intervention."

Before his last dictatorial election, he said: "No sons for foreign war." This is one pledge he'd better keep.

WALTER B. FREEMAN.

MOTHERS KNEEL IN PRAYER.

Chicago, May 15.—We beg, in the name of motherhood, that you will publish this plea:

Mothers everywhere, the fate of our country hangs in the balance. In addition to your articulate expressions and other activities for keeping the United States out of this war, won't you join the mothers of Gresham Methodist church, Chicago, in our daily 9 a. m. prayer that God may have His way in this crisis? God is a great ally.

We of Gresham are literally on our knees. Prayer changes things. The more participants, the more power released.

GRESHAM MOTHERS.
MRS. O. B. ALLEN, Sponsor.

TWO OF THE YES MEN.

Westmont, Ill., May 16.—I just read an article in your paper about the committee on coinage, weights, and measures which tells how two Democrats erred in casting their votes on an amendment limiting President Roosevelt's authority on foreign exchange transactions in buying silver and gold.

Acting Chairman John Cochran excused the men by saying they did not know what they were voting for. By saying that he is merely confirming what we people back home have known for a long time. That is: About 80 per cent of the men in congress who are supposed to represent the people, don't know what they are voting for. M. S. U.

WOULD RETURN THE CALL.

Or a thirty year endowment, or a special juke box lease,
Or a letter from his daddy to the exiled king of Greece.
So when you meet a leatherneck, and want to have some fun
Just mention Capt. Roosevelt, but get all set to run,
Or if you pass a devil dog and want to hear him roar,
Propose a toast to Jimmy, 'the idol of the corps.'" X. A. E. F.

DAYLIGHT IN OCTOBER.

Chicago, May 14.—Why is it that a few people have nothing else to do than to apply their "time" to the change of time. Now daylight saving has been extended thru October tho I thought it was settled once and for all thru the votes of the people sometime ago.

Of course, I can readily understand the golfer's viewpoint. They are at leisure to leave the office when they please as well as get down to business at their convenience, but doesn't the fellow who has to get up in the morning at say the hour of 5 get any consideration at all? DISGUSTED.

ROADSIDE SHRUBBERY.

Chicago, May 15. — [Friend of the People.]—Whoever is responsible for the hacking and mutilating of the shrubs at the park area at Howard and McCormick road should be jailed or forcibly restrained before the trees are attacked. Along McCormick road from Oakton street to Howard and along Howard street the shrubs are literally being hacked and chopped to a level or height of about three feet. No regard is given as to the kind, nature, or landscape value of the shrub. It is inconceivable that the sanitary district or park district should permit any one to destroy on such a scale. W. P.

Attached hereto is a letter dated April 15, 1941, to "The Friend of the People," in which a complaint is made relative to shrubs and trees along McCormick boulevard in the vicinity of Oakton street. For your information, please be advised that the Sanitary District of Chicago no longer maintains or operates McCormick boulevard nor has anything to do with the shrubs and trees along the boulevard. The road has been turned over to the County of Cook for maintenance and operation by that agency. I also wish to advise you that at the southwest corner of Oakton and McCormick boulevard the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois have planted quite a large area of trees and shrubs and I am advised that they recently have trimmed these shrubs and I believe that these are the shrubs and trees referred to.

In event you desire further information I would suggest that you communicate with either the Public Service company or the County of Cook relative to the complaint made. WILLIAM H. TRINKAUS,
Chief Engineer, the Sanitary District of Chicago.

SEEKER OF LOAN IS QUESTIONED IN MURDER OF FIVE

Note Informs Sheriff of Victim Refusing Help.

Lawrenceburg, Ind., May 18 [Special].—A man whose identity is being concealed was questioned tonight by Sheriff William Winegard about the shotgun slaying of five persons on a remote Laughery creek farm, 14 miles southwest of here, late Friday afternoon.

The suspect was seen Friday near the farm where the five persons were killed, and a truck driver told Sheriff Winegard today that he gave the man a ride to the vicinity of the farm.

Victims of the slayer, presumably well acquainted with them, were Johnston Agrue, 60 years old; his wife, Nina, 60; their sons, William, 33, and Leo, 21, and a granddaughter, Mary Breeden, 12.

Clew Points to Friend.

Evidence that the slayer was well acquainted with the Agrue family was seen in a sixth place laid at the supper table.

Suspicion was directed to the suspect now in custody by a note received by the sheriff. The missive said the suspect tried to borrow money from the elder Agrue last month and that the loan was refused.

The crime was disclosed yesterday morning when Harvey Sellers and his son, William, neighbors of the slain family, noticed a team of horses hitched to a corn planter and standing in a field. The team had been there all night.

Walking up a lane toward the Agrue house, Sellers and his son came upon the body of the elder Agrue, who had been shot twice in the back. Nearing the house they found the body of Mary Breeden. They returned to their home and summoned the sheriff.

Believe Woman First Victim.

Deputy Sheriff Arch Voit went to the farm and found the body of Mrs. Agrue in the kitchen, where she had been preparing the evening meal. After several hours, Leo Agrue's dog led searchers to his body and that of his brother. Both were in the field some distance from where the team stood hitched to the planter.

Sheriff Winegard believes the killer slew Mrs. Agrue first, then her granddaughter as she fled toward the barn, the brothers next and finally the elder Agrue when he returned from Madison, Ind., where he is employed at the United States ordnance proving ground.

The Breeden girl was a daughter of Mrs. Ethel Wiant, 815 Cornelia avenue, Chicago, and William Breeden, a Lawrenceville truck driver, who were divorced several years ago.

CLOSE OAK PARK BAKERY UNDER 1874 BLUE LAW

Oak Park police yesterday invoked an Illinois blue law, dating from 1874, in the village's fight with the Schlosser chain bakery store at 1145 Lake street in the suburb.

Mrs. Mary Jack, 503 South Trumbull avenue, assistant manager of the store, was arrested when she attempted to open for business in the morning. The blue law provides that whoever disturbs the peace and good order of society by labor on Sunday shall be fined not exceeding $25. It also prohibits peace disturbing amusements or diversions.

Mrs. Jack posted $25 bond for appearance in court tomorrow. The bakery some time ago obtained an injunction against an Oak Park ordinance requiring bakeries to remain closed on Sunday. The village countered by arresting Mrs. Jack on a charge of selling short weight on bread. She was fined $10 and $5 cost. The bakery announced it will appeal the conviction.

REPORT FARMER ADMITS SLAYING FRIEND ON RIDE

Bloomington, Ill., May 18 [Special].—Lyle Kennedy, 27, a Cooksville farmer, was held in the county jail today after he signed a statement admitting that he killed his friend, Dwyer Dameron, 19, on a back road near Colfax last night. Dwyer's body was found this morning.

State's Attorney Clifford Coolidge and Sheriff Walter Niersthelmer said Kennedy told them he held a revolver against the back of Dameron's head and fired because he was jealous of him.

Dameron was at a dance near his home in Colfax last night when Kennedy appeared and talked with him. Dameron danced several times more and told his partner he and Kennedy were leaving for a few minutes and that he would be back.

PHILIPPINES MOVE FOR $200,000,000 LOAN FROM U. S.

MANILA, P. I., May 18 (AP).—A measure that would empower President Manuel Quezon to negotiate for a loan of $200,000,000 from the Export-Import bank was approved last night by the Philippine assembly ways and means committee. The money would be used to finance purchase from the United States of food, clothing, medicines and construction materials for a year. It also would be used in part to increase monetary reserves in the exchange standard fund to safeguard the parity of the Philippine peso with the dollar, to make loans to producers and manufacturers of export commodities affected by shortage of shipping facilities due to the war, and to purchase or charter vessels.

FIND WATCHMAN DEAD IN RUINS OF $1,000,000 BLAZE

Philadelphia, Pa., May 18 (AP).—The charred body of a 72 year old watchman was found today in the ruins of a lumber yard swept by a million dollar fire.

The body of the watchman, Michael Regan, was found lying face upward in the center of the W. H. Lear company yard, origin of Thursday morning's fire that destroyed the yard, nearby houses and ate into the recently renovated Cramp shipyard in the city's teaming industrial section.

Federal and police investigators have said there was a possibility saboteurs started the blaze. The lumber company sells chiefly to defense firms while the shipyard has a contract for six cruisers.

CHICAGO JEWEL ROBBERY GANG'S ROUNDUP BARED

Two Held in Omaha, Third in Cleveland.

James F. Williams.

Three alleged jewel thieves, said to have made their headquarters in Chicago, while they operated in other cities, were in custody yesterday in Omaha, Neb., and Cleveland, O. Two of the alleged bandits are ex-convicts, and the third was convicted recently in Cleveland of a $15,000 diamond robbery there.

One member of the trio, acquitted Saturday in Omaha of a charge of robbing David G. Hay, a Chicago jewelry salesman, there of gems valued at $25,000 in November, 1939, was rearrested by federal agents on a warrant charging him with transporting stolen jewelry from Detroit, Mich., to Chicago.

Resident of Chicago.

He is James Francis Williams, 39 years old, 62 West Ontario street. Police said he was sent to the Texas penitentiary for robbery in 1921 and to the Missouri state prison several years later for robbery.

The two other members of the gang, police said, are Herman Banning, 39, and Howard Julian Graves, 40. Banning has been arrested numerous times as a suspect in bank and jewel robberies. He has served two terms in the Missouri state prison and each time was paroled. He is awaiting trial in Omaha on a charge of robbing Hay.

Graves also has been arrested many times as a jewel robbery suspect. He was seized six weeks ago in Cleveland and convicted on a charge of robbing George Pilzer, a Chicago jewelry salesman, of $15,000 worth of diamonds. He was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary along with a confederate, Byron Sidron, who was also involved in that robbery.

Arrested a Year Ago.

W. S. Devereaux, in charge of the office of the federal bureau of investigation here, said the federal agents have been investigating the activities of the three men for some time. They were arrested by the federal agents a year ago in Nashville, Tenn., after Hay had identified a picture of Banning. When seized in a high powered automobile, they had three pistols and 1,500 rounds of ammunition.

Hay told the authorities that two men got into his cab at the time of the Omaha robbery and forced the cab driver to drive to the outskirts of the city. He said a third man followed in a large car. He identified Banning and Williams, but could not identify Graves.

Another jewelry salesman, believed to have been a victim of the band, was Samuel B. Weiss of New York City, who was robbed of $25,000 worth of jewelry in Detroit a year ago. He said he believed he was followed from Toledo, O., to Detroit. Federal authorities said warrants in this robbery have been issued against Banning and Williams. They are believed to have committed other robberies in the Michigan city.

DIES AFTER FALL.

FOUR WILL FACE STRIKE SLUGGING CHARGES TODAY

Four men who are charged with assaulting two employés of the Midwest Glove company, 1474 Milwaukee avenue, where a strike has been called by a CIO union, will be arraigned in the Racine avenue court today. The alleged sluggings occurred Saturday as the two employés were entering the plant.

The victims are Charles Bagos, 52 years old, and his son, Woodrow, 28, both of 1923 North Winchester avenue. They said their assailants used brass knuckles. Police said five of nine employés walked out on strike 10 days ago.

The four accused are Edward Dembrowski, 26, of 1514 North Ashland avenue, and his brother, Henry, 28, of 1433 North Ashland avenue; Isidore Reiter, 25, of 5404½ Kenmore avenue, and Stanley Zembrowski, 23, of 1542 Wabansia avenue.

"I'll thank you to leave Princeton out of this, sir!"

ONE of the lesser known distinctions of the celebrated university at Princeton, New Jersey, is its record of once voting against the overwhelming trend of American undergraduate thought.

Out of all newspaper preference polls at men's colleges that we have heard of, in only one did The New York Times fail to win first place. That was at Princeton—in 1928! To date, no adequate explanation has been offered for this extraordinary reversal of form.

This virtual unanimity of undergraduate opinion—confirmed on feminine campuses as well—explains why The Times unique reputation continues from generation to generation. And why advertisers in The Times know they are building well for future as well as present sales!

CITY PREPARES FOR PARADE TO HONOR WAR DEAD

30,000 Expected to March on Memorial Day.

Plans for Chicago's annual tribute to its heroic war dead—the 73d Memorial day parade on May 30—were announced yesterday by the Grand Army of the Republic association of Cook county, traditional sponsors of the observance. More than 30,000 Chicagoans will be in the line of march and, as in past years, a crowd of many thousands is expected to view the event.

The parade will form at Chicago and Michigan avenues at 2 p. m. and will move south on the east side of Michigan avenue to Roosevelt road, turning west at that point to Wabash avenue, where it will disband.

G. A. R. Vets to Lead Parade.

As always the interest will center in the handful of G. A. R. veterans riding in the vanguard of the parade. These survivors of the union ranks in the civil war are all more than 90 years old. Capt. Thomas Ambrose, state commander of the G. A. R., will be the grand marshal.

In the first division also will be members of Grand Army auxiliaries, veterans of the Indian wars, and disabled veterans. The second division will include Spanish war veterans, sons of these veterans, units of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and various drum corps and honor escorts.

The third division marchers will include world war veterans, with huge turnouts from the American Legion posts. Auxiliaries of the posts and sons of Legion members also will be in this division.

R. O. T. C. Units to March.

The fourth division will be composed of R. O. T. C. units from Chicago high schools and military units not otherwise assigned. The fifth division will consist of nonveteran organizations, Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts, and members of the Chicago fire department.

The reviewing stand will be situated in the plaza at Congress street. Among those in the stand will be Gov. Dwight H. Green, Mayor Kelly, United States Senators Wayland Brooks and Scott Lucas, Brig. Gen. Charles H. Bonesteel, commander of the 6th corps area, and Brig. Gen. J. L. Homer, commandant at Fort Sheridan. The south half of the reviewing stand will be occupied by disabled veterans from the Hines and North Chicago hospitals.

SEIZE GUN TOTER, FIND HE'S WANTED ON MURDER ORDER

An elderly man, who was arrested carrying a loaded gun and a fake secret service badge, was being held by the detective bureau yesterday on a 12 year old police stop order "for murder." The prisoner is Albert Scramstad, 62 years old, 2645 North Fairfield avenue.

There were no records in the police files under his name indicating in what case he was wanted. The stop order was dated July 10, 1929. Scramstad denied he was involved in any kind of crime.

He was seized early yesterday by Sergt. Edward Kent of the Albany Park station on a street car at Montrose avenue and Pulaski road when Kent noticed that he was carrying a gun. Scramstad had been drinking, police asserted. They said they would hold him for Lieut. Otto Erlanson, head of the homicide squad, who issued the murder stop order.

OWNERS OF LOST DOGS WILL VIEW RESCUED ANIMAL

Several persons who have lost German shepherd dogs recently called the Anti-Cruelty society yesterday in the hope of identifying as their own a dog rescued Saturday from the bottom of a quarry at 27th and Halsted streets. Many other people expressed a desire to adopt the animal.

The society, however, is closed on Sunday, and persons who may be able to identify the dog will not be able to see it until today.

The dog fell into a pool 288 feet below the top of the quarry on Thursday. Anti-Cruelty society agents rescued the animal Saturday by clambering 138 feet down the sides of the quarry and descending the remaining 150 feet on a rope.

BOOGIE WOOGIE BLUES LEND NEW NOTE TO THE ZOO

Color's No Worry to Black Bear Cubs.

Brookfield zoo visitors saw something new yesterday—blue bears. They're two solemn looking little cubs named Boogie and Woogie.

They shouldn't have been blue, because they're the kind of bears known as black bears. Their mother, Mrs. Topsy, and their father, Mr. Wingra, are black bears in color as well as in name.

Just the same their twins are blue, the only blue black bears born in captivity that Robert Bean, assistant director of the zoo, ever has found in animal history.

A Firm Maternal Paw.

Their mom seemed to know that blue bears were something to be very proud of, for she posed happily with them all day. But it's evident that she doesn't intend to let them get uppity about being blue, for she spanked them occasionally on general principles, as if she didn't want them to get the idea they were anything exceptional.

The cubs are 4 months old, but even Director Edward H. Bean didn't know they were blue until recently. Black bears are so tiny when they're born that their ponderous mother can hide them with ease, and Mrs. Topsy hadn't allowed any one to see the twins until the last few days.

The twins weigh 9 pounds now. Their mother weighs 300 and their father 450.

Once in a Blue Moon!

Black bears can expect to be surprised by the color of their cubs, according to the zoo men. Sometimes black bears turn out white or cinnamon. But blue? Not in a blue moon.

Three sea lionesses arrived from California yesterday to charm the zoo's only sea lion, who already has three lady sea lions to compete for his smiles.

The baby kudu, an African antelope with white vertical stripes on his chestnut coat, was placed on display yesterday. He was fast on his feet from the time of his birth last Thursday, and for a good reason—where he comes from kudus that aren't fast get eaten by lions.

Red Cross Reports Army Wants 2,451 More Nurses

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP).—The Red Cross reported today that the army would need 2,451 additional nurses by July 1, and appealed to all nurses qualified for military service to make known their availability. Miss Mary Beard, director of the Red Cross nursing service, said the army hoped to induct 4,624 additional nurses by Dec. 1, and that the navy also was expected to increase its corps of nurses materially.

HANDBOOK RAIDS SLASH INCOME OF NITTI GANGSTERS

300 Arrested in Week's Drive on Rackets.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

More than 300 arrests last week in raids on handbooks in the loop and in outlying sections of the city dealt another heavy blow to the finances of the Nitti-Humphreys gang.

Police Commissioner Allman said the drive to close the books had made the gang's investment in them a liability. He said the gang now pays rent on office space that can be used only a short time before raiding squads arrive.

Other phases of the campaign to eliminate vice and racketeering in Chicago included Mayor Kelly's closing of two night life spots—the Colony club and the Club Alabam on Rush street—after employés of both had been convicted of operating gambling resorts, and the revocation of a number of tavern licenses for allowing gambling, selling drinks to minors, and keeping open after hours.

Slot Machine Drive Suggested.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert, head of the state's attorney's police force, said elimination of slot machines in the suburban area, feasible with the coöperation of Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, would reduce to virtually nothing the gang income from gambling in Cook county.

It was shown in the Skidmore-Johnson income tax cases that 900 gambling resorts were running in the city and suburbs last year and that the most profitable were controled by the syndicate headed by the old Capone associates, Frank Nitti and Murray Humphreys. Some estimates placed the profits from this business in the millions annually.

"These fountains of easy money have been dried up," State's Attorney Courtney said, summing up the situation.

It was Courtney who recommended the current raiding tactics. Patrons as well as operators of resorts are taken to police stations and held until they have made statements that provide the basis for prosecution of the employés. This also has a tendency to decrease the patronage of the books.

Plant Closing Blow to Humphreys.

Another blow felt by Humphreys was the closing of the Klever-Shampay cleaning plant, which he reputedly dominated. Courtney and his aids are investigating this gangster's possible holdings of stock in linen and towel supply concerns.

Among places police raided during the week were resorts at 3133 South Halsted street, 1725 Wabash avenue, 1219 Wabash avenue, 2130½ Michigan avenue, 23 East Harrison street, 179 West Monroe street, and 357 North Wells street. Others were 225 North Michigan avenue, 185½ North Clark street and three on Milwaukee avenue—at 2022, 752, and 1128.

Taverns whose licenses were revoked, in addition to those of the Rush street clubs, were the Pelican club at 29 East Ohio street, Carl Costello's at 114 North Dearborn street, Anthony Mishkin's at 7050 Halsted street, and 504 West 69th street, Milton Horn's at 3822 Madison street, William Hantone's at 2666 North Halsted street, and Benjamin Black's at 6240 Cottage Grove avenue.

Mayor Kelly also took away the licenses of a massage parlor at 55 East Washington street, operated by Otto H. Steve, and the Rigadoon dancing school at 27 East Monroe street, for alleged indecencies.

7 out of every 10!

This germ-killing action, we believe, helps to explain why, in a clinical test, 76% of dandruff sufferers — 7 out of every 10! — showed either complete disappearance of or marked improvement in the symptoms of dandruff within a month.

PERSONAL LOANS

with Merchandise Bank's Rate of 1½¢ a day per $100*

DO YOU need money? Before you borrow anywhere, it will pay you to figure out for yourself the real borrowing cost.

Here's a simple, quick way to do it:

Suppose you want to borrow $200 to be repaid in 12 months. Suppose you are offered such a loan with monthly payments of $19.36 (a typical example elsewhere). Multiply $19.36 by 12 and you find you have to pay back a total of $232.32. But you get only $200 in cash. So the real cost of the loan (elsewhere, of course) is $32.32.

Save half

The cost for that $200 loan here at Merchandise Bank is only $16. That is the total cost for a loan on your signature only. You save about half of the usual cost elsewhere! But that is not the most you can save.

Save even more with co-maker

On a co-maker basis, the cost of the $200 loan in the above example is only $11*—equal to 1½ CENTS A DAY PER $100. Many people prefer to borrow this way because the cost savings is larger.

Here's another example of the important savings you can make on a co-maker basis: In the case of a $100 loan repayable in 18 months, you can save enough money in borrowing cost to make three months' payments on your loan!

Pay less per month

Because your loan cost is less at Merchandise Bank, monthly payments are smaller. You can take as long as 18 months or more to repay. See the table below for typical monthly payments.

AMOUNT OF LOAN	Easy Monthly Payments
	18 Months	12 Months
$100	$ 5.55	$ 8.33
200	11.11	16.66
300	16.66	25.00
500	27.77	41.66
750	41.66	62.50

Amounts up to $2,500

Compares Britain's 1871 Gift to Chicago with War Aid Quota

If Chicago attains its goal of $1,000,000 for British war relief, it will be making less of a sacrifice than the people of Great Britain when they contributed $761,000 in cash plus food and merchandise to Chicago after the great fire of 1871, Melchior Palyi, financial expert, said yesterday in a report to Chauncey McCormick, Illinois vice chairman of the British War Relief society. "Bank deposits in England in 1871 totaled less than a billion dollars," Palyi said. "Present bank deposits in all Chicago institutions are about 4.1 billion dollars. Thus England gave Chicago one million dollars when her total deposits were barely 1,000 times that amount."

Looking at Hollywood by John Chapman

Diary of a Movie Correspondent.

Hollywood, Cal., May 18.—Monday—Dinner with Robert Montgomery and Elliott Nugent at Montgomery's fine colonial house. Pot roast and corn on the cob and beer and lemon pie—and it isn't a social date; it's for an interview. Best way to do an interview, too.

Tuesday—Telephone work and desk work and a lot of writing, and in the evening to the Duke Wellingtons'.

Wednesday—To the "Little Foxes" set—a complete turn-of-the-century street with real houses and sidewalks and gravel streets, all indoors. Bette Davis, being ill, partly from nervousness about her part and possibly because of a few differences of opinion, is being shot around. William Wyler is shooting an early morning exterior scene between Richard Carlson [a country newspaper lad and a character who wasn't in the play] and Dan Duryea, one of the nasty members of a nasty family. Four or five rehearsals are held, then four or five takes are made. All of the takes look good to me, but Wyler isn't content. He's a demon for detail, apparently. . . . Afterward he tells me he was so fussy because it was an opening scene for Carlson and set the character. Carlson is teasing Duryea; Duryea blusters and threatens a fight. Carlson says, "Any time, Leo, any time"—and Wyler says the inflection isn't funny enough. Carlson has to be established as a good humored guy, and that "any time" line has to be just right. . . . Prop man on the set is Irving Sindler, who is noted for having sneaked his name into every picture he's worked on. Usually he gets it on a store front, such as "Sindler & Sons, Hardware." He hasn't managed to work it into "The Little Foxes" yet—but it will be in sooner or later. . . . Cameraman Gregg Toland pauses from squinting thru finders and at light meters to offer a line: That the government and the draft have taken so many trained men that there's a shortage of movie crews. Result is that the men left are being paid overtime.

Thursday—To Metro, where Jeanette MacDonald and Gene Raymond are making "Smiling Through." Gene has gone back to his natural light blond hair. He darkened it for "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" and didn't like it. . . . The set is a huge English house and garden. Miss MacD. is prone to hay fever, so the leaves of the weeping willow trees are made of paper. . . . To Fox for lunch with William Farnum, and more on him next Sunday. . . . In the evening to a Columbia projection room to catch "She Knew All the Answers," a pleasant comedy in which Joan Bennett bewitches Franchot Tone—and this reporter—and to view a work print of "The Richest Man in Town," in which Edgar Buchanan, the ex-dentist who is becoming one of Hollywood's top character men, plays a country editor.

Friday—To see some live actors for a change—at the Biltmore theater opening of "Pins and Needles." This edition has been on the road since August and still isn't sloppy. The show started in 1937, and you'd think by now that the garment-working boys and girls would begin to look like actors—but they don't. They have miraculously preserved their semi-pro appearance.

1,000 at Dinner Give Palestine Rabbi $25 Each for School Fund

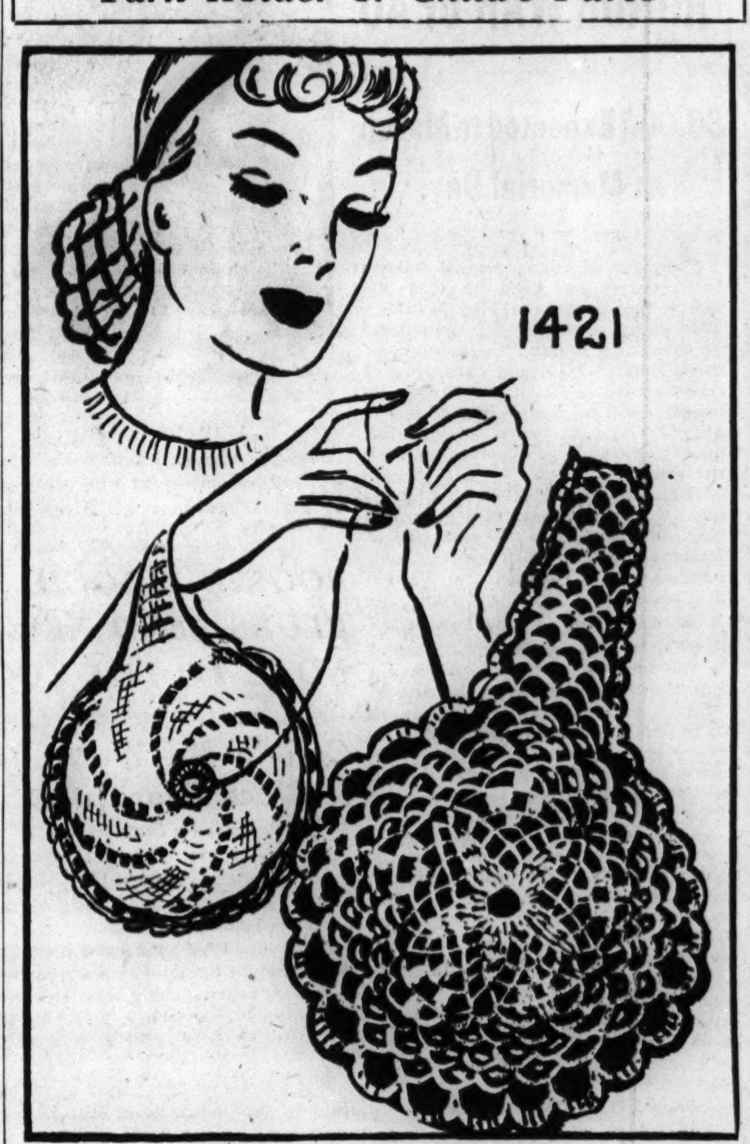
Dr. Israel Herzog, chief rabbi of Palestine, concluded a three day series of conferences with Jewish leaders of the central west last night with a dinner in Hotel Sherman. The rabbi recently flew from Palestine to the United States in the interest of various schools developed by Zionists.

More than 1,000 persons, representing all Jewish groups of Chicago and nearby cities, attended the banquet. These paid $25 each as a contribution to the Rabbi Herzog's Palestine schools fund. The schools had been founded by Czecho-Slovakian, Polish, Rumanian, Hungarian, and other Jewish communities prior to German occupation. Since the occupation of those countries the Jewish communities have been unable to maintain them.

Rabbi Herzog will fly back to Palestine, leaving Chicago airport this afternoon.

Judge Harry M. Fisher of the Superior court was chairman of the committee of arrangements for Rabbi Herzog's conferences and the dinner.

Yarn Holder or Child's Purse



BY ELLEN BRUCE.

Here is an unusual way to carry a ball of yarn for your knitting or crochet work. These two bags may be quickly crocheted. By using a fine, mercerized, crochet cotton, you may create a bag measuring 6 inches in diameter. A heavier material and a larger sized crochet hook will produce a greater size. There is no end to the versatility of these carry-alls, since they also may be lined and used as a child's purse.

For instructions in crocheting the yarn holders or child's purse, No. 1421, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 5th avenue, New York City.

Youth Is Torn Between Two Heart Affairs

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co. Inc.]

"I am greatly interested in a girl I have been seeing for the last year. I have reason to believe she cares for me, and I am convinced she is the girl I want to marry.

"My problem is that, for many years, I have been going with another girl. I would prefer keeping her friendship and good will to losing them, and while I do not believe she thinks my intentions are serious, she may, and I do not wish to hurt her. She takes it for granted that I will see her on certain nights of the week, and I am at a loss as to how to get out of these definite dates.

"The girl I care for does not take me seriously as a suitor, as I do not see her when she wants to see me, and she assumes I care for some one else's company more than her because of these 'standing' dates with the other girl.

"I cannot declare my intentions in view of my continuing to go with the first girl, and I am afraid of losing the girl I really want.

"How can a man clear up this sort of situation without being a cad? If you advise me to explain the situation to both girls I have made up my mind to see it thru.—HAROLD S."

Breaking the news to your old girl friend that you would like your "freedom" so that you may marry another girl is a job we don't envy you, Harold. We can well imagine how the news will affect her, if she cares for you still. But, if you are in a position to offer marriage to the new heart interest, we see no other alternative than a clean breast of the way you feel.

The decent and honorable thing for you to do is to tell your old girl that you admire and respect her and would like her continued friendship, but that you care for some one else and want to ask her to marry you. By your confession you will be "freeing" her, too, altho it will be much harder on her than on you.

General Federation of Clubs Opens Jubilee Session Today

BY BETTY BROWNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Atlantic City, N. J., May 18.—Board members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs arriving here for the opening of the organization's golden jubilee convention tomorrow were guests of New Jersey club women this afternoon at a tea in the Dennis hotel. The festive gathering in the long room overlooking the boardwalk and the sparkling ocean was all the more festive because the federation clings to the formality of long skirts and pastel shades at tea time.

Mrs. Vida Sidney of Yonkers, N. Y., whose mother, the late Jennie June Croly, founded the General Federation 50 years ago, was a guest at the tea. It was Mrs. Croly, a newspaper woman, magazine editor and "gossip" columnist, who organized one of the first woman's clubs, the Sorosis, in New York in pique when a men's club entertained for Charles Dickens and refused to invite women. A federation of all the women's organizations of the country was formed in 1890 at Mrs. Croly's suggestion to celebrate the 21st anniversary of Sorosis. The convention opening tomorrow in turn will celebrate the anniversary of the founding of the federation.

"My mother would have been pleased to see what women's clubs have accomplished," small, blue eyed Mrs. Sidney asserted. "My mother believed that women's clubs would teach women to organize, to work together and to play together—and then to apply this knowledge to things in which they were particularly interested outside of clubs."

Mrs. Sidney, a former actress and social worker, and her daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Jensen of Yonkers, who heads the handicapped division of the Brooklyn bureau of charities, will be special guests of the federation thruout the convention.

Another special guest is Mrs. Dena Shelby Diehl of Danville, Ky., who recently was chosen the ideal American mother of 1941 by the Golden Rule Foundation of New York. This typically feminine, soft voiced southern widow, reared four daughters, supported them by managing her own dancing school, and teaching music and, besides, found time to be a club president and start a garden club.

The golden anniversary meeting is expected to draw a record attendance.

'Halka' Staged Superbly; Stirs Huge Audience

"HALKA."

Opera in four acts by Stanislaw Moninszko. Presented by Harry Zelzer in the Civic Opera house, Sunday evening, May 18, 1941.

THE CAST.

Stolnik	Alexander Kulpak
Zofia	Valerie Glowacka
Janusz	George Czaplicki
Halka	Maria Sokil
Jontek	Jan Kiepura
Dziemba	Chester Nieznanski
Mountaineer	Edward Grabinski
Dudziarz	Alfons Lewandowski

The Filareci-Dudziarz chorus.

The Polish Ballet. Principals: Felix Sadowski, Janina Frostowna.

Conductor: Jerzy Bojanowski.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

They were all there again last night—all those winter operatic delights which we had never hoped to experience so late in the spring. There was a darkened Civic Opera house, a glow of light along the bottom of the curtain, an expectantly waiting orchestra. There was the patter of applause as the conductor made his way to his stand, the quick rise of the curtain, the sight of a glittering stage. The chorus burst into rousing sound and the dancers whirled in.

All these things came to pass because the indefatigable Harry Zelzer hated to see hot weather come without putting on at least one more Polish opera. His choice fell on Moniuszko's beloved "Halka." The project was a huge success whether the quality of the performance or the size and enthusiasm of the audience be used as the criterion.

The Polish people, evidently, know how to live more intensely than the jaded races to the west of them. A vigor amounting almost to violence marked last night's performance. There was a swing and a momentum in the way choruses gave way to dancers and dancers to choruses. And each individual seemed exuberantly to be giving his all.

The opera was put on by groups of Chicago Polish-Americans, with a sprinkling of nationally and even internationally famous artists. The audience—also predominantly Polish-American—received the work of their fellow citizens cordially, but reserved their most thunderous ovations for the visiting principals.

Most important of these of course was Jan Kiepura, who next to Paderewski himself is probably the best known Polish musician in the world. He sang with the passion which we expect of him, and in the powerful scene with Janusz in the second act he revealed darker and richer voice colorings than the conventional operatic répertoire usually demands.

There were ovations for Maria Sokil, the Halka of the evening, who sang brilliantly and yet managed to communicate to the audience all of the most wistful aspects of the unhappy peasant girl's character. Also for Valerie Glowacka, the sparkling Zofia, and George Czaplicki, the deliberate, dignified, opulently voiced Janusz. There was a perfect thunderclap of applause for the dancers, Felix Sadowski and Janina Frostowna.

Amidst all the excitement of the opera the man who was chiefly responsible for it—the conductor, Jerzy Bojanowski—went comparatively unnoticed. He did his work down there in semi-darkness, molding phrases into beautiful shapes and building up masterful climaxes.

Kimball hall yesterday heard fluent, pleasant, unpretentious piano playing from a young local teacher, Charlene Shafer. She went competently thru a hard program of classical, romantic, and modern music, taking technical difficulties in an easy stride and phrasing with sense and taste.

Some of her best work was done in the Bauer transcription of Mussorgsky's "Pictures at an Exposition." The movement called "An Old Castle" was touched with a very moving strangeness and beauty.

Front Views and Profiles By June Provines

A Contemporary's Judgment in 1898.

A young English officer, R. N. Smyth, writing from the Boer war to his sister Ethel in 1898—letters scribbled on the march from Cairo to Khartoum—wrote:

"I find I have an addition to my troop, Winston Churchill of the 4th Hussars. He's Lord Randolph's son and has been fighting in Cuba; he also took part in the Chitral campaign, about which he wrote a book. . . . He rides with me sometimes on the march and is good company.

"Winston Churchill is only 23 and frightfully keen. . . . I shall be very sorry when he leaves my troop. He is aggressive—clever and bumptious, but you can't help liking him in spite of his very apparent but superficial faults. If ever you come across him, get to know him. . . . Of course he's very young. But if he lives he'll be a big man some day. . . ."

The sister Ethel is Dame Ethel Smyth and she quoted the letters in her What Happened Next.

Sandwich Eater.

A lone man visiting the Circle restaurant was served two sandwiches. When he finished the stewardess asked him if he'd had enough to eat.

"Surfeit," he replied.

The stewardess, thinking he'd said "serve it," promptly went out in the kitchen and got him another sandwich.

Junior League of Evanston to Open New Home With Tea

BY JUDITH CASS.

SOME will say that the Evanston Junior league has chosen unwisely when they hear the date of its last meeting of the spring which also is to be a tea and art exhibit in its new club rooms. The date is Friday, June 13. The new rooms are the charming ones in the historic Grosse Pointe lighthouse, just off Sheridan road, in Evanston, which the league from now on will share with the Garden Club of Evanston.

The club is putting the finishing touches to the redecoration of the rooms, which was started by the late Willard W. Jaques as a memorial to his wife, a former president of the Garden Clubs of Illinois and of Evanston, who preceeded him in death by three years. If the 13th turns out to be a sunny, pleasant day, tea will be served on the lawn, under gayly colored umbrellas.

Mrs. Chester N. Goltra is in charge of the art exhibit. Mrs. H. Hoyt Thompson, who is the new chairman of the luncheon committee, and her assistants, will be in charge of the tea. Mrs. John A. Turner recently was reëlected president of the league. The late Mr. and Mrs. Jaques' daughter-in-law, Mrs. Willard K. Jaques, is a member of the league. She is the former Gertrude Matthews.

Former French Officer to Speak at Tavern Dinner.

Members of the Tavern are to have a chance to hear Adolphe Pervy, French educator and soldier who was a liaison officer with the British army in Flanders, tell about his experiences Thursday night after a dinner for him at the club. Mr. Pervy told the same story at the Saddle and Cycle club recently, and thrilled every one who heard him. Mr. Pervy is visiting the Maurice Patrick Geraghtys, who are giving a small cocktail party for him tomorrow at their home in Schiller street. The John R. Winterbothams are entertaining for Mr. Pervy at dinner tonight.

At a cocktail party at home in Kenilworth on Saturday Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph M. Ostermann announced the engagement of their daughter, Edith, to Philip Farnsworth Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Espey Cannon of Salt Lake City, Utah. Miss Ostermann is a graduate of the Roycemore school and of Wellesley college. She attended the University of Munich and Northwestern university's school of speech and now is on the staff of the Evanston Guild theater.

Lieut. Cannon is a graduate of the University of Utah and of the Stanford University business school. He now is serving in the cavalry reserve of the United States army at Fort Riley, Kas.

Mr. and Mrs. David R. Clarke of Ravinia announce the engagement of their daughter, Davida, to Alfred Woolley Maddock, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Maddock of Swampscott, Mass. The wedding is planned for early July.

Miss Clarke was graduated from Stephens college last June. At present she is attending the Katherine Gibbs school in Boston. Her fiancé studied at the University of Pennsylvania.

Virginia Skinner to Wed Wisconsin Senator June 1.

Instead of the draft board, it will be the workings of the Wisconsin state senate that will control the wedding plans of Miss Virginia Skinner and Louis John Fellenz Jr. Mr. Fellenz, who is Wisconsin's youngest state senator, must be back in Madison two days after their marriage on June 1, so he and his bride will postpone their wedding trip until the senate session is adjourned.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Skinner left yesterday for Green Lake, Wis., to get their summer home in readiness for the ceremony. The ceremony at 4 o'clock will be attended only by the two families, and a half hour later their close friends will come in to toast the health of Mr. Fellenz and his bride. Eugene E. Hughes, Mrs. Skinner's father, who just has returned from Florida, will go up to Green Lake for the wedding, and her sister, Mrs. E. Hughes Giblin, is coming on from New York.

Miss Jacqueline Aagaard will be the bride's only attendant. Mr. Fellenz's best man will be Senator John Byrns, with whom he shares bachelor quarters in Madison. Mr. Fellenz and his bride will spend the summer in the Skinners' guest house before going to Fond du Lac to live.

Miss Alice Leland, daughter of the Clarence Lelands of Winnetka, and Lyman B. McBride, son of Mrs. George J. McBride of Evanston, will

SYNOPSIS.

Carol McFee, whose father is about to lose his ranch to Tate Wallace because of a forged deed, writes to Dave Coyle, notorious outlaw, asking for help. Wallace is bringing Sholto to the trial to testify that McFee signed the deed. Will Usher, Dave's enemy, proposes to Dave that they kidnap Sholto and make Wallace pay a ransom. Dave agrees, thinking it will help McFee's case but after he kidnaps Sholto, he finds that Usher has double-crossed him and wants the ransom for himself as well as the reward that is offered for Dave's capture. Dave escapes but finds McFee has been arrested for kidnaping and possible murder. Dave discovers that Wallace has blackmailed Sholto because of a murder he knows Sholto committed and is holding Mrs. Sholto as hostage. He sets Mrs. Sholto free, taking her to the McFee ranch, and aids McFee in breaking jail. Wallace refuses to pay ransom for Sholto, knowing if Sholto is killed McFee will hang for his murder and there will be no trial. McFee and Dave rescue Sholto from Usher, bringing him back to town to clear McFee and just as they arrive with him some one shoots and kills Sholto, and McFee is arrested for murder. Dave knows that the only persons who could have shot Sholto were Sheriff Beal, Deputy Ernie See, Lacey Thornton, McFee's disgruntled ex-partner, or Senator Maitland, McFee's lawyer, as they were the only persons who knew he and McFee were to bring Sholto into town. They were in the McFee home when a letter he had written to Carol telling of these plans disappeared. Dave, escaping the sheriff and men, goes to the McFee ranch and finds himself surrounded.

INSTALMENT XXXI.

OUTWITTING THE LAW.

A half dozen lamps and lanterns were commandeered and then the posse spread out in a wide half circle and started toward the corrals.

Softly, cursing bitterly, Dave began to crawl toward the corrals, taking advantage of all the cover he could. They knew he was unarmed, and they'd shoot him down in a second, now, if they saw him. They could afford to be brave. He heard one man on the other side of the horse corral call, "I got this side covered, Ernie!"

Dave rolled under the bottom rail of the horse corral, and then, bending over, crossed it. Beyond, two men were talking. Dave crawled over in the shadow of the big tank and considered his position. They would soon close in on him, joining up with the men on the other side of the corrals who had rushed ahead. If he ever got out of this, he'd need his luck to do it. There was just no way out.

In one long bleak moment, Dave considered this! He was going to have to surrender. He raised his hand to the edge of the trough, ready to hoist himself up and surrender. Bitterness was hard in his throat. And then his hand touched the water. The big round tank was almost full of water. A rim of ice was forming at the edges.

Suddenly, he paused. He knew he was going to do it. He crawled over the edge of the tank and put his feet inside. The water clawed at him like hot iron, but he lowered himself in it clear to his neck. He couldn't breathe, and the cold was like an iron band around his chest. But he remembered to take off his hat and kneel on it so it wouldn't float. He hoped bitterly that nobody would notice that the water level was above the rim of ice. He found a cleat near the bottom of the tank, and, holding onto it in readiness, he looked over the rim and watched.

The men with lanterns were coming closer, the first one almost at the corral. They were shouting back and forth now on both sides. Suddenly, Ernie See stepped into the corral and Dave heard him say, "If he ain't here, he's in the barn."

Dave waited until Ernie was halfway across the corral, and then he took a deep breath and gently pulled himself under water, using the cleat to hold himself there. He tried to hold still, but he knew he was shivering. How long could he stand it? He was sure that with the light from the lantern reflected in the water it would look only black and deep to a man investigating. Unless they looked carefully, he would be invisible under the water's surface.

He tried to count, but even before he got to 10, his lungs started to ache. Then the pain and the torture came, and he held out doggedly.

When he was certain that he couldn't live if he didn't get air right away, he slowly let himself up, careful again not to disturb the water. He came up, his eyes open—to find himself staring at the broad back of Ernie See, not six inches away from him.

Ernie was sitting on the edge of the trough!

With exquisite agony, Dave slowly drew in his breath. Ernie was talking to a man sitting beside him, saying, "We'll work over the barn now. Flush him into the corral here."

Dave couldn't smother the chatter of his teeth; he couldn't stand the agony of this ice water another moment. Already his muscles were balled into vicious cramps that ached like a throbbing tooth. With a hand that was numb, he gently reached out for the gun in Ernie's holster. His hand was shaking so the gun seemed to hammer on the leather of the holster as he slipped it out.

When it was free he rammed it savagely into Ernie's back, came to his feet, and wrapped a wet arm about Ernie's neck.

"You there!" he said to the man beside Ernie. "Throw your gun away, and hurry it!"

The man did, and then raised his hands to the night sky. Dave shoved Ernie off the trough and clambered out.

"You and me are goin' to walk over to a horse, Ernie," Dave said, his teeth chattering. "You better figure out how, and make it quick!"

Ernie said thickly, "The hell I will!" He looked around him for the others, but there was only the dim light of a lamp from behind the barn.

"Bueno," Dave said harshly. "I didn't have a gun tonight, but I got one now! Watch me!"

He cocked the gun, and there was something in his manner that was deadly and final.

Ernie backed off and said, "Hold it!"

"I can't much longer, I'm cold."

"Then follow me."

Ernie walked toward the corral gate. When he got there, he yelled to the man with the lantern in front of the barn, "Go help 'em, Russ. I'll watch this side."

"What about the corral?"

"Mickey's here, and two others."

The man went in the barn. Dave prodded the two of them out the gate and they walked swiftly toward the house. They could hear the shouts of the men inside the barn. A horse was tied to one of the cottonwoods near the house. Dave mounted it and without a word galloped out into the valley.

Ernie See's voice raised in a savage bawl, "Get your horses! He's gone!"

Dave smiled at that. He was cold, almost frozen, but he knew he was free. He knew something beyond that, too.

One of five men—Sheriff Beal, Ernie See, Lacey Thornton, Senator Maitland, and Will Usher—was Sholto's killer and Wallace's backer.

The approach to the Three Rivers spread did not appeal to the esthetics in Will Usher's nature. He was a man who liked fine things, and altho that liking had got him into much trouble, thru the short cuts he took to get fine things, it still didn't cure him. He didn't like Three Rivers. There were no trees, and the whole place looked as if a Fourth of July picnic had just pulled off the grounds. But Will was in no position to appear critical right now. Or was he? He didn't know what attitude to take with Tate Wallace—the superior or the inferior—and he decided to let events shape his course.

Before he had pulled into the yard proper, an unshaven hard case strolled out from the shade of the barn, where he left two of his companions.

"What do you want?" the puncher asked. Will looked at him and decided he was dirty and offensive and needed taking down.

"I know one thing I don't want," Will said equably, "and that's any of your lip, my man."

He ignored the man's surliness and looked at the buildings with contempt mounting in his eyes. "Wallace around?"

"Not to you, he ain't."

"Tell him I'm the gent that tried to make him pay for Sholto," Will said. "I want to talk to him."

The calm brassiness of Will Usher impressed the puncher. He growled something and set off across the yard to the house. Will followed him and dismounted at the porch. He sat down on its edge and wiped the sweat from his hatband, then looked the place over. No, it wasn't much, he decided. If he owned the place and the money that was behind it, he'd turn this over to rats and mice and build down near the junction of the Three Rivers, off the bench.

Will contemplated it for a long time and finally grew impatient. What had happened to that puncher sent to get Wallace? Will reached in his coat for a cigaret making, and his elbow bumped something. He glanced around and saw a pair of boots, and, looking higher, saw a man standing there watching him. It was Wallace, all right, he knew, but he didn't know how he'd got there.

Will very calmly looked away, rolled a cigaret, and lighted it.

Wallace said quietly, "So you're the ranahan that wanted $50,000 from me, are you?"

"That's right," Will said, looking off across the flats.

"How'd you like to get kicked as far as the drift fence you passed a couple miles back?"

Will said calmly, "I wouldn't like it. You won't do it, either."

"O, won't I?" Wallace taunted. He stepped off the porch, heading for the crew by the barn.

Plaid Cotton Suits Newest Summer Garb

BY REA SEEGER.

Streamlined cotton suits consisting of jacket and skirt headline the summer showings. Whether you're tall and mature, petite and very young, there are dozens and dozens of finds to please. The smartest are those made of Glen plaid patterned seersucker cotton. Such suits are so cleverly cut and seamed, made of such perfectly printed plaids that they look exactly like the finest of imported woolens.

Details and tailoring also are as flawless as anything in tweeds and woolens. And the astounding low price marks make them the proof that every woman can look crisp, neat and smart at a small cost.

One super showing of cotton suits features two definite collections . . . tailored cottons for the mature woman and the gay, dashing models for the younger shoppers. The jackets for the mature figure are perfect. They are cut with a much longer, and a flattering silhouette. Some are softly bloused at the back to accent a neat beltline, others deftly plaited in vertical lines to slenderize.

Pockets are patched on smoothly and the necklines are especially becoming. Such trifles as hand worked buttonholes and stunning buttons mark them as superior finds.

Striped seersucker is used with great imagination in two piece suits in this group, the narrow colored stripes in either burgundy or jade green smartly cooled down with white companion stripes. Wide lapels and pockets use the striped seersucker in flattering vee formation.

Elect Mrs. F. Russell Lyon as National PTA Official

Boston, Mass., May 18 (AP).—Mrs. Robert A. Long, Atlanta, Ga., was named chairman today of the state presidents' conference of the 45th convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. Mrs. F. Russell Lyon, Chicago, was elected vice chairman and Mrs. H. S. Klein, Huntington, W. Va., secretary.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

In the play of no trump contracts experienced players have discovered that it is not always wise to take the first trick in the opponents' suit. In fact, the so-called holdup play is one of the most effective weapons of the declarer at no trump. If declarer refuses to take his trick until one of the defenders no longer has a card in the suit the line of communication may be irreparably broken. There are cases, however, not known to most players, in which the most effective way of breaking the line of communication is to take the very first trick in the opponents' suit. Today's hand is an example.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

West opened the six of hearts and South considered his prospects. Nine tricks obviously could be made if the spade finesse were successful. If the spade finesse should lose, however, South would need some defense against a long heart suit.

Applying the rule of eleven to the opening lead, South saw that East had only one heart higher than the six. This must be an honor, since West would not have led low from K-Q-10. If East's high heart were the ten, declarer's best play would be to duck the opening lead, since, in that case, the jack could win the trick. But if East's high heart were either the king or the queen South's only hope lay in playing dummy's ace at the first trick.

South adopted the latter plan as more likely to win. He played dummy's ace of hearts and finessed the ten of spades. West won with the king, but now was helpless. To lead the king of hearts would establish South's jack; any other lead would permit South to run his nine tricks with ease.

Note that if declarer had not played the ace of hearts at the first trick East would have taken his queen and returned the suit. West thus would establish his suit and run it when he eventually got in with the king of spades.

be married at 4 o'clock on June 14 in Christ church, Winnetka, with a reception following at the Leland home. Mrs. Gordon Haverkampf will be Miss Leland's only attendant. John McBride will be his brother's best man. Miss Leland will be in two weddings shortly. Mrs. Giovanni Cardelli of Lake Shore drive has taken the Donald McPhersons' house in Winnetka for the summer. Mr. and Mrs. McPherson are going east to their country home in Berkshires on May 25. Their daughter, sub-deb Sally Anne, is a student at Miss Hall's in Pittsfield, Mass., where she will be again next year.

The box office of the Erlanger theater will be humming with activity all day today, for tickets for the Chicago Committee for Aid to China's benefit performance of "Twelfth Night" will be sold there up to curtain time tonight. Proceeds from the sale of tickets, which are offered at regular box office prices, will go to the Chinese Industrial coöperatives.

Among those who have taken boxes for tonight's performance are the Herbert E. Mayers, Thomas E. Donnelley, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Valentine, the John Alden Carpenters, Russell Tyson [he is president of the committee], the Robert J. Thornes, Dr. and Mrs. Max Cutler, the William S. Monroes, and the Silas Strawns. Mrs. Monroe is chairman of the benefit. Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans are stars of "Twelfth Night."

The annual meeting of the Lake Shore League of Women Voters will be climaxed with luncheon at 12:30 o'clock today at the Arts club. Mrs. John Collier, president, will introduce Mrs. George Gellhorn of St. Louis, Mo., for a talk on the present aims of the league. Mrs. Gellhorn is a member of the national board of directors.

This afternoon brings the annual card party of the woman's auxiliary of Grant hospital. It will be held in the nurses' residence, 536 Webster avenue, at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. Frederick L. McNally is chairman of the benefit.

The Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association is giving a tea at the Woman's Athletic club from 3 until 5 o'clock this afternoon.

Thru the LOOKING GLASS

It's almost inconceivable that in this age there should be even a few women who so far slip up on fastidiousness as to do without deodorants. But it's so. Personnel directors tell us, and they should know.

It's a crying shame, since there is no handicap either in business or in social life that quite equals such carelessness. One department store director told us just last week of the trying experience she'd had with one of her brightest, most promising girls.

She was clean, she was smart, and she had the kind of personality that melts sales resistance—which is just exactly what the fairy godmothers of sales girls should endow them with. But apparently she had the notion she was one of those rare mortals who don't perspire.

There are people who labor under that delusion, you know. She was talked to about it, sent up to a grooming director who told her the facts of personal fastidiousness, but it didn't work for long. She couldn't possibly be kept on, to give makeups or to consult with customers. It was too much of a trial for every one.

Monday, May 19.

Two distinct moods are available today; steer around the self-pity type. Use the sober reflections that are among us in the evening. The past is full of lessons that we can apply with profit now; let us view them impersonally, use them wisely.

Your Year Ahead.

Your year ahead may require adapting, changing, making amends, but if this is your birthday it can lead to progress; push money interests from end of next May. Highly emotional year, careful. Danger: Feb. 17 to March 5.

Go after results; put best ideas to the test.

FROCK IN JUNIOR SIZES.

The demureness of this frock particularly recommends it to the teen agers. In fact, it is styled only in junior sizes, especially for these sub-debs. The neckline makes it heart shaped and ribbon trimmed, or it may be brought up to the throat and wear a contrasting collar. The skirt is shirred into the built-in waistline, and the bodice is severely plain. Striped, patterned and plain washables all will make up handsomely.

Style No. 2872 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, 17, and 19.

Address orders for Clotilde patterns to Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 537, Grand Central annex, NEW YORK CITY, including 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred—wrap it carefully) for each pattern ordered. IMPORTANT! Be sure to state clearly the number of the pattern and the size desired, and write your name and address plainly.

Numerology By Evelyn Holmes

May 19, 1941.

Universal day—An energetic day. Rumors must be discounted.

Birth years—Those born in the years 1880, 1889, 1898, 1907, 1916, and 1925 have the powerful number eight ruling their life period after 55 or so. This can mean for many that they will be in positions of authority and power. Some may be judges, presidents of banks and large organizations, executives, etc. It can be the period of great harvest in a material way if a person has worked and earned material rewards. To some it might bring just the opposite if they haven't looked ahead to this period. They might have worries over debts and be financially embarrassed. If you know this is the number you will be working out in your declining years, then it behooves you to build up constructively to this period so that you will be on top in full power and in command of the situation—as an eight should be.

Cool, sharp flavored and smooth on the tongue, tomato aspic is an ideal warm weather salad. There are as many ways to vary it as there are to change a tomato cocktail. It may be served plain or with crisp vegetables in it. Jellied in a ring, it sometimes is filled with cottage cheese, potato or shrimp salad, and at these times it's a meal in itself.

Tomato Aspic.

[Quart ring mold.]

1 quart canned tomatoes
1 medium onion, sliced
2 tablespoons sugar
1½ teaspoons salt
6 peppercorns
½ teaspoon celery seed
1 bay leaf
1½ tablespoons plain gelatin
¼ cup cold water
1 tablespoon lemon juice

Simmer tomatoes with onion and seasonings for half an hour. Strain. Soften gelatin in cold water and dissolve in hot tomato mixture. Add lemon juice. Pour into ring mold and chill until firm. Turn out on salad greens and serve with mayonnaise.

VARIATIONS FOR ASPIC.

1. Fill ring with cottage cheese, shrimp salad, macaroni salad, tuna salad, potato salad, or another similar mixture.
2. Add shredded cabbage, diced celery, a little green pepper, and a few sliced radishes to the mixture before jellying.
3. Pour the aspic over deviled eggs in the ring mold. Make each serving include an egg.
4. Pour half the tomato aspic into the ring mold and chill it until firm. Then arrange short asparagus tips on the jellied part, crosswise of the mold. Fill with remaining gelatin and chill until firm.
5. Blend ½ cup mayonnaise and 2 packages cream cheese until smooth and fold into the aspic when it has chilled to the point of just beginning to congeal. Add an extra ½ tablespoon of gelatin, making 2 tablespoons in the recipe.
6. For a large party salad make a recipe of the aspic and a recipe of jellied chicken or fish salad. Put half the aspic in a large mold and chill until firm. Add the chicken or fish salad and chill until that layer is firm. Top with remainder of tomato aspic. The mold is an attractive three layer salad. The middle layer should be made with plain or lemon gelatin.

A jellied mold will come out of the pan easily if the pan is rubbed with salad oil before the mixture is poured into it.

CUBS WHIP DODGERS, 7-4; WHITE SOX WIN, 10-5

FRENCH SNAPS WYATT'S STRING AT 7 STRAIGHT

Herman Hits Three Singles.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The proud and skilled Brooklyn Dodgers swaggered out before 26,357 awed fans in Wrigley field yesterday, bent on the graceful accomplishment of their 23d victory of the season. But they limped away with their eighth loss. Larry French and the Cubs conquered them, 7 to 4, the first time this season the Brooklyns have been whipped by a margin of more than two runs.

Each side had its nervous moments afield, but this ineptitude with the gloves served only to add to the excitement of the carnival before the largest Wrigley field crowd of the season. On the basis of earned runs the Cubs would have won, 3 to 0.

Good Overshadows Bad.

French was deprived of a shutout mostly because of the overeagerness of Lou Stringer to prove that the Cubs acted wisely in shunting Bill Herman to Brooklyn to make room for him at second base. Twice the youngster tried too hard to sparkle and each of his bobbles seemed grievous at the time. The Cubs' third error, by Stan Hack, led to two runs in the seventh.

On the other hand, the erratic work of Stringer and Hack was more than balanced by especially brilliant plays by Bob Sturgeon and Phil Cavarretta. So maybe Larry got better than average support, especially if you add a couple of circus catches by Lou Novikoff and Dom Dallessandro.

It was French's second victory and Whit Wyatt's second defeat. Wyatt lost his first game, then won seven straight. He had pitched eight full games, so when the former White Sox was knocked out by Clyde McCullough's triple in the seventh inning, it was his first plank walk of 1941.

Two Errors Upset Whit.

Wyatt was upset by two errors when and where he least expected them. Peewee Reese threw him in a jam in the third inning, in which the Cubs made two unearned runs for a 3 to 1 lead without the aid of a base hit. And Dolph Camilli's two base failure on Stringer's grounder in the sixth led to two more unearned runs in the seventh. There was nothing spurious about the Cub run off Wyatt in the seventh, nor about one off Vito Tamulis in the eighth.

Each team made nine hits and, for a pleasant change, the Cubs went in for extra bases. McCullough and Cavarretta knocked triples and Hack, Dallessandro, and Bill Nicholson bashed doubles. Neither of the triples bloomed into a run, but each drove in a marker.

Dodgers Bounce Back.

Hack's and Dallessandro's doubles came in the first inning to produce the first run of the contest. The Dodgers tied the score in the second. Pete Reiser caught Hack on his heels with a bunt, then Camilli sent a hot grounder to Stringer. Lou had plenty of time to launch a routine double play, but he gave it a bit of the Fancy Dan and threw high to Sturgeon. So Reiser reached second and Camilli first. The pair advanced on Joe Vosmik's sacrifice, whereupon Mickey Owen was given an intentional pass, loading the bases. Wyatt sent a long fly to Dallessandro and Reiser scored the tying run. French threw out Reese.

Next tabulating was the Cubs' hitless onslaught in the third inning. After French had become Wyatt's fourth strikeout victim, Hack drew Whit's first pass. Cavarretta bounced a double play ball to Herman, but Reese muffed Bill's perfect toss and both runners were safe. Dallessandro walked, loading the bases, and Nicholson walked on four pitches, forcing in Hack. Cookie Lavagetto made a fine play to get Novikoff on a mean bouncer, but Cavarretta got home. McCullough then executed his second strikeout.

The Dodgers scared everybody after

Six More Drivers Qualify for Indianapolis 500 Mile Race

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Indianapolis, Ind., May 18.—Emil Andres of Chicago, 1940 central states champion, and five other drivers qualified this afternoon for positions in the lineup of 33 cars which will compete for $100,000 in prizes in the annual 500 mile automobile race at the Speedway here on Memorial day. These six additions to the 12 which qualified yesterday, with their averages in miles per hour for the clocked 10 miles, are:

FIFTH ROW—13. George Connors, Los Angeles, Cal., 123.984; 14. Al Miller, Detroit, 123.478; 15. George Barringer, Houston, Tex., 122.299.

SIXTH ROW — 16. Emil Andres, Chicago, 122.266; 17. George Robson, Huntington Park, Cal., 121.576; 18. Floyd Davis, Springfield, Ill., 121.106.

A crowd of 30,000 attended this afternoon's preliminary bouts against the electric timer, making a total of 70,000 for the week-end. Other preliminaries will be run next Saturday and Sunday, and possibly on Wednesday afternoon also, if six entries announce by tomorrow night that they will be ready for the 10 mile qualification test.

24 More Entries to Try.

For the remaining 15 positions in the starting line there are 24 entries being tuned up in the Speedway garages. The fastest will be chosen in the preliminaries.

The first four rows in the column of threes to receive the starter's bomb on Memorial day, as determined by their sprints around the two and a half mile track yesterday, are as follows:

FIRST ROW—1. Mauri Rose, Indianapolis, 128.691; 2. Rex Mays, Glendale, Cal., 128.301; 3. Wilbur Shaw, Indianapolis, 127.836.

SECOND ROW—4. Harry McQuinn, Indianapolis, 125.499; 5. Doc. Williams, Franklin Ind., 124.014; 6. Frank Werne, Pasadena, Cal., 123.890.

THIRD ROW—7. Cliff Bergere, Hollywood, Cal., 123.890; 8. Billy DeVore, Indianapolis, 121.770; 9. Chet Miller, Detroit, 121.540.

FOURTH ROW—10. Ralph Hepburn, Van Nuys, Cal., 120.656; 11. Russell Snowberger, Detroit, 120.104; 12. Everett Saylor, Dayton, O., 119.860.

Three Boyle Cars in Race.

Connor is driving one of three cars in the race owned by Mike Boyle, Chicago electrical union boss. His team mates are Wilbur Shaw, the winner here in 1937, '39, and '40, and Chet Miller.

Al Miller and Barringer did their sprints in a pair of automobiles with engines mounted in the rear and delivering power to the front as well as the rear wheels. Andres' machine is one built by him and Joe Lencki in a Chicago west side garage.

The only other driver to attempt to qualify, William [Shorty] Cantlon of Indianapolis, encountered a broken connecting rod in his 16 cylinder creation just as he signaled he was ready to go. Cantlon suffered slight burns on his right foot when sprayed with hot oil.

French Drivers Arrive.

Rene Lebegue and Jean Travaux of unoccupied France arrived today to compete in the race. They were delayed, they said, in obtaining British permission to ship their Talbot cars thru the blockade but expected the cars to arrive in New York Thursday.

HORSES START RACING TODAY AT LINCOLN FIELDS

Stake Horses to Run in 6 Furlong Feature.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Lincoln Fields will open its 30 day meeting this afternoon with a program headed by a 6 furlong allowance race which will be a preview of some of the stake events.

The Woolford farm's seasoned campaigners, Joe Schenck and Technician, will go to the post, together with quite a few other contenders which are well known on Chicago tracks. The field of 12 named in the overnight entries includes Flying Lil, Potranco, Vino Puro, Prairie Dog, Ballinderry, and other good sprinters.

Matt J. Winn, executive director of Lincoln Fields, will present a meeting which will be in line with the improved caliber Chicago area racing has taken on in the last year. This will be the second stage of the season's schedule in this area. The Sportsman's Park meeting closed Saturday after the most successful 19 days of its history on the basis of betting and attendance.

Racing on a High Plane.

The racing at Lincoln Fields will be followed by the big summer meetings at Arlington Park and Washington Park. Then will come Hawthorne's September session followed by another Sportsman's Park meeting in October.

The American Turf association, which has just concluded its biggest Churchill Downs meeting since 1926, is prepared to proceed on a similar scale at its Chicago area track—Lincoln Fields. Many of the stables which have been competing in Kentucky have moved up here and they have been joined by contenders from other parts of the country.

The fans will be pleased to try their handicapping skill on a regulation sized track after some have become a trifle confused by the breaks of luck which develop on the sharp turns of the half mile Sportsman's Park oval. Lincoln Fields, which is a mile and a sixteenth in circumference, has a home stretch 1,000 feet in length, which does much to bring out a horse's true running ability and level off any of the breaks which may occur on the curves.

Six $5,000 Stakes.

A program of six stake events has been arranged—one for each of the five Saturdays and another for Memorial day. All carry an added value of $5,000. They are planned for sprinters and routers, juveniles, and mature horses.

The 6 furlong Crete handicap, which will open the stake schedule Saturday, has drawn 43 entries, including Technician, Unerring, Agricole, Mystery Marvel, Smacked, Flying Lil, Montsin, Potranco, and Talked About.

C. Bruce Head will be presiding steward. With him in the stand will be Sam McMeekin and William Hamilton, the latter being the representative of the Illinois Racing commission.

Ruby White will make his first appearance as a starter on Chicago tracks when he sends away a field of 2 year olds in the opening event this afternoon. White was an assistant to Hamilton for many years and succeeded him when he resigned to take the steward's appointment.

DUNCAN WINS TWO RIVERVIEW MIDGET RACES

Ted Duncan of Chicago, was a double victor in the opening midget automobile race of the season in Riverview park last night, winning the 30 lap feature from Jimmy Caris of Chicago in 7:05.6 and capturing the 15 lap handicap event. Bob Muhlke of Chicago finished third in the feature event.

The consolation race of 18 laps went to Byron Fisher, also of Chicago. Jimmy McClory of Chicago, was injured in the fourth elimination heat when his car skidded over the retaining rail. He was taken to Illinois Masonic hospital.

I love to kiss a baby's hands—to feel
Their soothing touch, their innocent appeal.

A lady's hands I should admire, I know,
With all the wondrous grooming that they show.

Hands scarred with work—hats off to them I say,
They are the kind of hands we need today.

A young man's hands—so eager, full of hope,
God keep and make them strong, with life to cope.

Hands, folded quietly across her breast,
Wrinkled and worn—my mother's hands at rest.
My mother's hands—more beautiful to me.
Than all the painted fingers now I see.

In the tasks of his hands, the things that they give.

Discreet in what I ate,

And since grown up I daily find
This rule can save much strife
If just recalled while drinking

ROSS AND LEE STOP SENATORS IN RELIEF ROLES

Dietrich Again Fails as Starter.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—The second place White Sox bubbled over with base hits again today, annihilating the Senators, 10 to 5, in the series opener and advancing to a point four games behind the pacemaking Cleveland Indians. Sixteen safe shots for 25 bases boomed off the bats of the Chicagoans, a quantity more than sufficient to offset a third straight fadeout by Bill Dietrich. The right hander hasn't been able to pick up any glory—or victories—since the three straight triumphs with which he began the 1941 season.

The failure of Dietrich, caused partly by the fact that he used his bare hand to slap down a drive, but mainly by the liberties taken with his wares, came perilously close to causing disaster. His pals gave him a four run lead by belting Steve Sundra in the opening inning. Bespectacled Bill lost part of this advantage so his helpers gave him one more run in the fifth. In the same inning, Dietrich wilted, the Senators tied it up, and Lee [Buck] Ross, late of the Athletics, took charge. The newcomer received credit for the victory, tho he needed help to retire the Senators in the ninth.

Kuhel, Wright Break Tie.

Sundra remained until the seventh, when he encountered the bats of Joe Kuhel and Taft Wright, former Senators. Joe ripped off his second extra base blow and Wright made his fourth successive hit. Two runs grew from this bit of blasting, giving the Sox a 7 to 5 lead, and when the next inning rolled around, a kid named Arnold Anderson was introduced. He was clipped for a run, victim of the deadly swinging done all afternoon by Mike Kreevich and Myril Hoag. For the ninth, Ken Chase, a lefthander, was trotted forth and he was jostled for the two final runs.

Ross' exhibition ended before the last putout, but the long, lanky lad nevertheless was an impressive workman. He stopped Washington in the fifth by retiring two batters with the bases loaded. Then he proceeded smoothly into the ninth, only to lose control. With two out and one on base as the result of a single, he walked a pair of Senators. Manager Jimmy Dykes summoned Thornton [Lefty] Lee, who personally threw out Pinch Man Johnny Welaj to conclude the game.

Appling Starts the Parade.

Luke Appling started the heavy first inning firing with a single to right and loped to third when Kuhel doubled over first base. Both scored on Wright's two base thump into left center. There was a lull while Dario Lodigiani was grounding out, but Kreevich doubled to right center, Wright scoring. Hoag slammed a triple into center and Kreevich counted the fourth run. Umpire Johnny Quinn assisted Sundra by calling out Mike Tresh on a close play at first base.

Dietrich had two Senators out in the third before the breaks started going against him. Doc Cramer survived on a scratch hit to Lodigiani and came home on Jim Vernon's double to left center. After Buddy Lewis had walked, Cecil Travis hoisted a tall popup behind third base and Lodigiani, bothered both by wind and sunshine, let the ball trickle thru his hands, Vernon scoring. The Sox recovered one of these tallies in the fifth on Appling's pass and singles by Wright and Lodigiani.

Dietrich Goes Away.

Vernon's bounder took a trick hop over Lodigiani's head for a single in the fifth and Dietrich soon was among the missing. Lewis singled and

JACKSON PARK PICKED FOR GOLF SCHOOL FINALS

32 Best Novices Will Be Named Thursday.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Jackson park, oldest site of all Chicago golf courses and the town's major incubator of outstanding tournament players, next Sunday afternoon will be the scene of the graduating exercises of the ninth annual free golf school conducted by THE TRIBUNE. This was decided yesterday by the members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers Association of America.

Competing in these finals will be the 32 students adjudged by their professors to have made the most progress during the regular course of the school, which will have its third session tomorrow night and the fourth and final instruction on Thursday evening.

Name Finalists Thursday.

At the conclusion of Thursday night's lesson, the members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers Association of America, who have donated their services to the school, will choose the two men, the two women, the two boys, and the two girls, among the novices in their classes, who have shown the most aptitude in the regular series of lessons.

These 32 will gather at Jackson park at 2:30 p. m. next Sunday. There they will undergo the professional glances of a special jury, which will attempt to analyze the swings of the real beginners, rather than the hundreds of regular players who have been working at the game for years.

The 32 finalists will compete for a variety of prizes. In addition to the golf bag and set of clubs which the winners will receive from THE TRIBUNE, the man, woman, boy, and girl who are selected next Sunday at Jackson park also will be presented season passes to the Chicago Open, to be played at the Elmhurst Country club on July 18, 19, and 20, and the $11,000 Tam o' Shanter Open at that club on Sept. 4, 5, 6, and 7.

Still an Opportunity to Enroll.

If you happened to miss the first two lessons of the school, you still have an opportunity to enroll in it. The PGA members who are conducting the classes have promised to repeat their tips on the grip and the stance for the benefit of those who may have been unable to attend last week's first two lessons.

Let's say you are interested in golf. Why not come out Tuesday and Thursday? All you have to do is bring a club [preferably a mashie] to the park course most convenient to your home or office. Be there, if possible, 15 minutes before the opening class time, at 7 p. m. The four park courses are located as follows: Jackson, 63d street and Stony Island avenue; Columbus, Jackson boulevard and Central avenue; Marquette park, Marquette road and Kedzie avenue, and Diversey, located in Lincoln park at the foot of Diversey boulevard and Lake Michigan.

Eastern Prep Crews Enter Tribune Meet

The third annual Chicago Interscholastic regatta took a national turn last night when it was learned that two of the leading prep eights in the east will compete against Chicago and middlewestern crews June 15 on the Lincoln park lagoon.

William H. Herman of Philadelphia, member of the executive board of the Penn Athletic Club Rowing association, advised Charles R. Miner, director of the regatta, that his club would send two crews to Chicago. The crews will be selected on the basis of their showings in matches held this month and early in June.

Five Crews Assured.

The addition of the eastern representatives assures at least five championship schoolboy crews. Culver Military academy, always strong in water sports, will compete. The Ecorse Boat club, in suburban Detroit, will send the Ecorse High school eight, and Chicago will enter its champion. The Chicago title will be at stake the Sunday before the regatta when boys from Lane Tech, Schurz, and Waller take to the water on the Lincoln Boat club course.

Lane's lads, because of triumphs in the two previous Chicago regattas, last night were selected to represent the city in the national schoolboy regatta on Saturday, May 31, in West Camden, N. J. In addition, Paul Murdock of Schurz High will row in the single sculls in the national event. This is the first time Chicago schoolboys as a unit have been sent to a national regatta.

Buffalo Preps Invited.

There is a possibility that the field in the June 15 regatta on the lagoon will be broadened. Miner has sent an invitation to Lafayette High, Buffalo, N. Y., a perennial leader in prep rowing.

The schoolboy program, together with the appearance of the national championship University of Washington crew, is sponsored for the third year by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the Lincoln Park Boat club in coöperation with the Chicago park district.

Only One Chicago Crew.

In the two last regattas the main feature was the championship battle between the Chicago schoolboy crews. However, because of the invasion of out of town crews, only the title winning Chicago eight will compete on June 15.

SEA HORSES WIN, 8-3.

The Sea Horses of Waukegan, managed by Ed Linke, former White Sox pitcher, yesterday opened their season on Weiss field in Waukegan with an 8 to 3 victory over the Chicago Firemen.

Two Teams Tie in Benefit Pro-Amateur

Two teams tied for first place in the benefit pro-amateur golf tournament played for Terry McGovern, former Deerpath professional, yesterday at Mohawk Country club. The deadlocked combinations, with identical best ball cards of 34—31—65, were by Chamberlain, Glen Oak professional, who teamed with Joe Muniz, and Art Toepke, Itasca pro, who played with Joe Born of the home club. The playoff will be held next Sunday at Mohawk.

MITCHELL WINS LONGEST DINGHY RACE ON LAKE

Leeds Mitchell Jr. sailed his new D class Frostbite dinghy, Seiglinde, to victory yesterday in the longest dinghy race ever held on the lake front, a six mile contest from the downton station of the Chicago Yacht club, in Grant Park harbor, to Belmont harbor.

Bill Parks and Ray Gussler, sailing the B class dinghy Pollywog, won the Columbia Yacht club's second spring series of races yesterday in Grant park harbor. Bill Brix and Jack Oakley, in Jack Holbrook's dinghy, Quest, were second, and Pete Paganis and Eleanor Disbury, in Alice Hill's entry, Guppy, were third. Five races were sailed with nine boats competing.

Speaking of Relay Teams, Now, Indiana---

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Minneapolis, Minn., May 18.—When Indiana invades the Pacific coast this week for the Los Angeles relays, there isn't much doubt now in the collective midwestern mind but that the Hoosiers will dominate the two mile relay. The champions of the Western conference proved themselves yesterday in an exhibition of individual brilliance seldom seen in Big Ten history.

There was no two mile relay in the conference meet, but Campbell Kane's record-breaking half mile, after he had won the mile 40 minutes earlier, almost was sufficient in itself to prove the point that Indiana will be better in the Los Angeles Coliseum relays than Michigan, Drake, or any Pacific coast entry.

Kane Will Run Anchor.

Kane will run the anchor half mile, Coach E. C. Hayes of the Hoosiers indicated yesterday. His half mile mark of 1:51.3 yesterday after he had won the mile in 4:15.2, assures him that position. And without handicap of previous exertion Kane can, if pressed, lower this figure appreciably.

Paul Kendall will lead off for Indiana, Wayne Tolliver will run second, and Roy Cochran will pass the baton to Kane. Kendall finished second in the conference mile yesterday, forcing Kane all the way. Tolliver won the two mile race from his teammate Fred Wilt and Cochran took the 440 yard championship.

Harris Takes Two Titles.

Kane's half mile race, in which he whipped Michigan's Warren Breidenbach, was the feature of the closely contested fight for the Big Ten team title, but Archie Harris shared honors with Kane. Harris finally took the shotput title he had relinquished at the indoor games, but his discus throw of 174 feet 1 inch, made the headlines. Harris also will go to Los Angeles this week.

The jumbled scoring took precedence over all other features, however, because of the photographic finish in the 100 yard sprint. For some time it seemed that the placing of Al Thomas and Al Piel of Michigan might even determine the team title. Northwestern's Myron Piker won the short sprint and Ralph Hammond of Ohio State was second.

The officials announced that Thomas, Jim Turner of Illinois, Piel and George Franck of Minnesota probably had finished in that order. Study of the picture resulted in a tie for third between Thomas and Turner and an award of fifth place to Franck. This reduced Michigan's total 1½ points.

CHICAGOAN WINS ALL-BORE SKEET TITLE WITH 199

Gerald R. Batten, professional of the Lincoln Park Gun club, won the all-bore championship of the Great Western Skeet shoot yesterday in Lincoln park with a score of 199 out of 200. Batten and five others tied with scores of 99x100 in the regular event, but the Lincoln park pro outdistanced his rivals in the shotoff with a perfect 100.

Those in the shootoff with Batten were James R. Anderson and Larry Smith, Chicago; Tom Metzger, Greenville, Mich.; E. H. Graf, Birmingham, Mich., and Frank Salkeld, Kankakee, Ill.

Anderson won the class AA title with 99, and Graf the class A with 98. A. W. Myers of Pottersville, Mich., won class B with 97. Mrs. Potter Palmer III. of Chicago captured the women's championship, hitting 97 out of 100.

The five man team all-bore title went to the Northwest Gun club of Chicago, 483x500. The Gateway team and L. A. Young team, both of Detroit, tied for second with 479. Kankakee's March and Gun club rated third with 473.

TONY PETROSKEY RETURNS TO RING AGAINST DUBS

Tony Petroskey, Muskegon, Mich., welterweight, who has been out of the ring for more than two years, will return to action in an eight round bout against Harvey Dubs of Windsor, Ont., tonight in Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. Petroskey lost to Tommy Howell in 10 rounds in his last Chicago appearance Oct. 3, 1938.

Petroskey holds victories over Phil Furr, Johnny Barbara, Remo Fernandez, and Frankie Sagilio. He scored a one round knockout over Barbara, who subsequently triumphed over Fritzie Zivic, current 147 pound titleholder. Petroskey, therefore, is expected to add Dubs to his victory string. The fact that the Muskegon fighter is not invincible, however, gives Dubs a chance to score a surprise triumph, such as he did when he stopped Billy Seward in one round on April 21.

One of Petroskey's most humiliating setbacks was a three round knockout by Verne Patterson June 6, 1937, also in the Marigold arena.

Johnny Trotter, south side light heavyweight, who stopped Solly Stark in Minneapolis recently, is paired with Eddie Camp of the west side in an eight round semi-windup. Matches of four rounds bring together George De Gido, Minneapolis featherweight, and Andy Canal; Alex Kondos, Milwaukee middleweight, and Bob Berger, and Ernie Derho, 152 pounder, also of Minneapolis, and Tito Taylor.

Dizzy Davis will oppose Ed Virag in the windup bout of a wrestling show this evening in White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. . . . An amateur boxing and wrestling card will be held tonight in the Broadway armory, 5900 Broadway, under the auspices of North Shore post, No. 21, American Legion. Among ringside guests will be Tony Zale, middleweight champion, and members of the Chicago Cubs. . . . Al Hostak, perennial 160 pound challenger from Seattle, Wash., will arrive this morning for a 15 round title contest with Tony Zale in Chicago Stadium May 28. Solly Krieger, a former middleweight titleholder, now fighting as a light heavyweight out of San Francisco, reached Chicago last night for a 10 round secondary feature against Booker Beckwith. . . . Tommy Thomas, referee of the heavyweight championship event between James J. Braddock and Joe Louis in Comiskey park June 22, 1937, is the latest official successfully to pass a medical examination by Dr. Frank A. Lagorio, as required by the state athletic commission.

CHICAGO WOMAN LOSES LEAD IN BOWLING MEET

Los Angeles, Cal., May 18 (AP).—A 25 year old Kansas city housewife, Mrs. Catherine Siegel, held the lead in the singles of the Women's International Bowling Congress tournament tonight with a 628 total. This was two pins better than Sally Twyford of Aurora, Ill., rolled to win the title in 1940.

Yesterday's leader, Lillian Koehler of Chicago, dropped to fifth place with 561.

Martha Smith and Fanny Anthony of Syracuse, N. Y., moved into first place in the doubles with 1101, beating the 1076 total of Bertha Lee Rosely and Marie Ludwig of Grand Rapids, Mich. In third place with 1051 was Ann Karrer and Helen Kepler of Philadelphia, followed by Mrs. Koehler and Dorothy Saunders of Chicago, 1042; Helen Moffett and Edna Ericson, Philadelphia, 1034.

Mrs. Brazeal led in the all events with 1688.

Zwick Meets Scalzo for Title in Milwaukee

BY FRANK MASTRO.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., May 18.—The first world featherweight championship bout in this state's history will be held here tomorrow night when Petey Scalzo defends his 126 pound title against Phil Zwick, 35 year old challenger from Kaukauna, Wis. It also will be the first contest under Wisconsin's recently adopted 15 round bill.

Scalzo, who will be placing his belt on the block for the third time since being crowned by the National Boxing association a year ago, is a 2 to 1 favorite to win. Despite this, 1,000 of the challenger's followers from the Fox river valley will attend hoping to see their idol score an upset. Because he still possesses tremendous hitting power in his right hand, Phil will rely on this weapon for victory. His chance of landing this blow on a vulnerable spot is the topic of conversation between fans.

Expect Crowd of 4,500.

Gov. Julius Heil and Mayor Carl Zeidler, two of the most enthusiastic fight backers in the state, will be in the crowd of more than 4,500 in the Auditorium. Promoter Billy Mitchell, matchmaker of the Wisconsin 20th Century Sporting club, under whose auspices the match is being presented, predicts gate receipts will exceed $10,000. The show needs $7,500 to break even. Barney Ross of Chicago, former lightweight and welterweight champion, will referee.

The 23 year old Scalzo will collect $4,000, including $500 for expenses, or 50 per cent of the net proceeds. In his anxiety to obtain his first championship chance in a 16 year campaign, Zwick acceded to the champion's demands. Unless the show realizes a profit, the rangy veteran will be fighting for nothing. He will share any financial benefits with the club.

Both Near Title Weight.

Scalzo, 1936 New York Golden Gloves bantamweight title holder, weighed 127 pounds, one more than the limit, when he ended boxing drills yesterday. Zwick, who has not made the specified mark in three years, was at 126⅛ when he concluded hard training. Neither expects to have difficulty making the required poundage at the weighing in tomorrow afternoon.

Supporting matches are:

Jimmy Pierce, West Allis, vs. Jess Ackerman, Des Moines [6], 150.

Ramey McKnight vs. Indian Billy Lee [6] for Wisconsin welterweight title.

Savior Canadeo, Chicago, vs. Tommy Campbell, Terre Haute [5], 150.

Don Wallenfang, West Allis, vs. Doll Rafferty [4], 135.

Billy Pierce, West Allis, vs. Billy Stevens, Terre Haute [4], 162.

Arizmendi, Jackie Wilson Meet in 10 Rounds Tonight

Los Angeles, Cal., May 18 [Special]. —Baby Arizmendi and Jackie Wilson will meet in a 10 round fight here tomorrow night. Turkey Thompson and Tony Musto of Chicago also will appear in a 10 rounder.

KICKERS DEFEAT SLOVAKS, GIVE VIKINGS TITLE

Score 3 to 2 Upset as Hansas Lose, 3-1.

BY OFFSIDE.

While the Vikings were defeating the Hansa, 3 to 1, before 5,000 in Winnemac park yesterday, the Slovaks unexpectedly lifted them into the major division championship in the International Soccer league by dropping a 3 to 2 decision to the Kickers at Addison street and Kimball avenue.

The Slovaks' defeat automatically canceled the last scheduled game between them and the Vikings three weeks hence, in which it was expected the championship would be decided. The Slovaks now will finish the season battling the Swedish-Americans, last year's champions, for second place.

Hansa missed a chance to take a lead over the Vikings in the first three minutes on a futile penalty kick. Shortly thereafter Roscoe Anderson put the Vikings one goal ahead by driving past the full backs and firing from 10 yards out.

The Anderson boys, Roscoe and Harold, each scored in the second half and Emil Costa counted for the Hansa to bring the count to its final tabulation. Lineups:

ATHLETICS PILE UP 16 HITS IN 10-3 ROUT OF INDIANS

Recruit's Relief Pitching Checks Cleveland.

Philadelphia, Pa., May 18 (AP).—Rookie Tommy Ferrick turned in a brilliant relief job today to win his first game of the season as the Athletics ended a five game winning streak for Cleveland's Indians, 10 to 3.

Ferrick was rushed to the mound in place of Johnny Babich with one out in the fifth inning when Babich's shoulder muscles became stiff. He uncorked a wild pitch that let in a Cleveland run, but thereafter only one Cleveland runner reached second. Altogether he gave up only four hits.

Babich, making his first appearance since suffering a sore arm in spring training, allowed only two hits. One of them was a two run homer by Jeff Heath in the second inning.

Calvin Dorsett, a rookie, started for the Indians, but was routed in the second. The A's continued their 16 hit attack against Joe Heving and Ken Jungels. Score:

TIGERS, 6; RED SOX, 5.

Boston, Mass., May 18 (AP).—Two infield errors in the 11th inning gave Detroit two unearned runs and a 6 to 5 victory over the Red Sox today before 23,000. The triumph, the fourth straight for the Tigers, boosted them into third place over the Red Sox, who have dropped their last four games.

With one out in the 11th and the score tied, 4 to 4, Paddy Mullin singled and Dick Newsome, who had relieved Bob Grove in the eighth, passed Bruce Campbell. Rudy York grounded to Jim Tabor and Campbell was forced at second. While attempting a double play, Odell Hale threw the ball into his own dugout and Mullin scored to break the deadlock. York then came home from second when Manager Joe Cronin bobbled Charley Gehringer's grounder.

With two out in the Boston half, Jimmy Foxx poled out his fifth homer of the season. Tabor followed with a double, but Hale fanned to close the game.

The Red Sox put on a four run rally to tie the count against Buck Newsom in the seventh. Foxx started it with a single and, after Tabor had hit a homer, Hale, Johnny Peacock, and Dom DiMaggio singled and Stan Spence was passed. Al Benton then took over and wound up as the winning pitcher. Score:

Reds' 6 Game Losing Streak Ends, 4 to 3

Cincinnati, O., May 18 (AP).—Paul Derringer, whose victory over Chicago on May 10 was followed by the Cincinnati Reds' longest losing streak in more than 300 games, ended the setback string today at six by whipping the Boston Braves, 4 to 3. A crowd of 10,599, smallest Sunday turnout here in two years, saw the game.

Derringer got into trouble in the second and third when Boston scored its three runs, but he blanked Casey Stengel's team from there on. He yielded seven hits and fanned nine.

Helped by two timely singles by Chuck Aleno, rookie called up from Indianapolis to play third for the ailing Bill Werber, the Reds staged rallies in their halves of the innings in which Boston scored.

Cincinnati made 11 hits against three Braves' pitchers, forcing Jim Tobin from the mound with none out in the second and sending Joe Sullivan off the hill in the third. Tom Earley finished the game, giving only five hits. Score:

Pittsburgh, Pa., May 18 (AP).—The New York Giants today spotted the Pittsburgh Pirates four runs in the first two innings, then came from behind to win, 5 to 4, for their fourth straight victory. Brilliant relief pitching by Rookie Ace Adams and Walter Brown stopped the Pirates after they chased the starting pitcher, Bill McGee. Score:

CARDINALS, 6; PHILS, 5.

St. Louis, Mo., May 18 (AP).—Johnny Mize singled with the bases loaded in the ninth inning today to give the Cardinals a 6 to 5 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies and lift them to within one game of first place. Mize also doubled and scored on a single by Martin Marion to create a 5 to 5 tie in the eighth.

Morton Cooper held the Phils hitless until the fifth, when they scored four runs on four hits, a walk and an error to take a 4 to 1 lead. Cooper was relieved by a pinch batter in the seventh and Howard Krist finished, allowing one hit.

Walker Cooper, Cardinal catcher, suffered a dislocated shoulder in a collision at the plate with Harry Marnie in the fifth inning. Dr. Robert F. Hyland, club physician, said the injury would keep the star recruit inactive for six weeks. Score:

Sox Use Three Pitchers; Beat Senators, 10-5

Travis doubled, Vernon scoring. Jim Bloodworth caused no annoyance, but Ben Chapman beat out a hit, which Dietrich knocked down with his bare hand. His throw to first not only was late, but wild, Travis following Lewis over the plate. This was where Ross came forth. He passed Jake Early on orders and then added to his woes by walking Sundra, filling the bases. A short fly ball and a force play, tho, thwarted the Senators.

Kuhel Hits a Triple.

The untieing of the 5 to 5 knot in the seventh began on Travis' fumble of Appling's bounder, which should have been the second out. Luke went home immediately, the power being supplied by Kuhel's triple into left center. Wright's fourth hit was a looping single into right field, Kuhel counting. A double play on Lodigiani's tap stopped the Sox, but they made one on Kreevich's double and Hoag's single off Anderson in the eighth.

The Chicagoans treated Chase to a few thrillers in the ninth. Appling opened with a two bagger, was bunted to third by Kuhel and crossed the plate ahead of Bloodworth's throw to Early on Wright's grounder. Strikes dispatched Lodigiani, but Kreevich singled, Wright taking third. Hoag fanned, but Early let the ball roll to the stand and Wright scored on the error.

White Sox Send Smith Against Senators Today

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., May 18.—Eddie [Lefty] Smith, who a few days back slipped a neat 13 to 1 defeat to the Yankees, will pitch for the White Sox in the second of the series tomorrow. Vern Kennedy, graduate of the Sox and Browns, may make his first start for the Senators.

The high spot of the I Am an American day ceremony was Manager James Dykes' walking to the center field flag staff to help pull the rope while a high school band played the national anthem.

The Sox now have captured six of their last eight games. They began this demonstration by whipping the Tigers twice in Chicago. They broke even in a pair at Boston and before coming here took the Yankees apart twice in three attempts.

Cubs Defeat Dodgers and Wyatt, 7 to 4

two were out in the fifth. Wyatt lined to Sturgeon and Sturgeon made a breath taking play to get Reese. Herman then was credited with the second of his three singles when Stringer found his grounder too hot to pick up. Lavagetto's grounder went between Stringer's heels into right field, Herman taking third and Lavagetto reaching first on the error. Joe Medwick gave himself a record of having hit safely in 17 straight games when he singled to left, scoring Herman, and the bases were loaded when Reiser beat out a slow bouncer to Hack, who had no place to throw the ball. Camilli then grounded out to Stringer.

The sixth opened with Camilli's aforesaid two base vacuum grab at Stringer's grounder. Sturgeon grounded out to Reese, but Stringer then got to third on a wild pitch. French fanned. Hack lined a single to left, scoring Stringer. Cavarretta lined a triple to right, scoring Hack, but the inning ended with Dallessandro's fly to Medwick.

Dodgers Provoke Scare.

The seventh was nerve tingling. Herman led off with his third single and Hack threw out Lavagetto, but fumbled Medwick's grounder. Bill and Joe moved up on Reiser's grounder to Cavarretta, but Camilli busted a double to left center, scoring Herman and Medwick. Vosmik flied to Dallessandro.

Nicholson opened the seventh with a double to left, and, after Reese had thrown out Novikoff, scored on McCullough's triple off the left field wall. Newel Kimball, a former Cub, replaced Wyatt, and Stringer and Sturgeon were tossed out by Lavagetto.

Tamulis' first relief act was to walk French on four pitches at the start of the eighth. Larry moved up on Hack's sacrifice and Cavarretta walked. Dallessandro singled to left, scoring French, and was forced by Nicholson. Cavarretta tried to steal on Tamulis' throw to Camilli, but was run down, Tamulis to Camilli to Lavagetto to Owen to Reese.

Herman, Lavagetto and Medwick went out in order in the ninth. Herman, by the way, was robbed of his fourth hit on a super stop and throw by Sturgeon.

Injuries in Crash Fatal to M'Intosh, Former Coach

Dallas, Tex., May 19 (AP).—John Russell [Dutch] McIntosh, 34 years old, former line coach at Southern Methodist and Vanderbilt universities, died today of injuries suffered in the crash of his automobile against a railroad underpass. He was alone at the time of the accident and officers believe he fell asleep at the wheel. Funeral services will be Tuesday.

PASSEAU FACES DODGERS, CASEY; SEEKS 3D VICTORY

Claude Passeau will make another try this afternoon for his third victory of the season in the second game of the Chicago-Brooklyn series. He will be opposed by Hugh Casey, Cub graduate, who will be after his sixth straight victory.

Billy Herman got far more cheers than jeers when he made his first appearance at the plate. And there wasn't much bitterness in the raspberries.

The weatherman, after dishing out arctic stuff Friday and Saturday, came thru with a perfect baseball day yesterday. This helped the Dodgers on the way to what probably will be the all-time National league attendance record for games at home and abroad.

WESTERN UNION BOYS TO RETURN TO WORK TODAY

Western Union messenger boys of the loop offices, who went on strike Wednesday, will return to work today, according to Dick Carmadone, American Communications association [CIO] organizer.

Carmadone said the agreement includes seniority rights, a provision not to dock the boys' pay unless they are more than seven minutes late to work, and regular cleaning and pressing of uniforms by the company and the supplying of shirts. Carmadone said the boys have been promised that they will not be fired for striking.

The strike began over the hiring of girls as messengers, but the girls will continue to work. Carmadone said a grievance committee has been set up to negotiate for higher pay for messengers who maintain their own bicycles. All messengers now receive 30 cents an hour, according to Carmadone. Company officials said the strike had been settled, but declined to comment further.

2 KILLED, 2 HURT AS CARS COLLIDE AT INTERSECTION

7 Others Escape with Minor Injuries.

Two men were killed and two women injured seriously yesterday in the collision of two automobiles at 107th street and Mannheim road in Palos township. Seven other persons, including five children, suffered only minor injuries.

The dead are Howard Weisflog, 41 years old, of 1115 Spring street, Michigan City, Ind., the driver of one car, and William Timm, 76, of the same address, a passenger in Weisflog's car. Seriously injured were Weisflog's wife, Martha, 37, and Mrs. Olive Del Sasso, 37, of 400 Yale street, Joliet, the wife of Tony Del Sasso, 36, driver of the second automobile.

Escape Serious Injury.

The Weisflogs' three children, James, 11; Nancy Ann, 8, and Bobby, 3; Thomas K. Chapman, 19, of Lead, S. D., who was also a passenger in Weisflog's car, and Del Sasso and his two children were not seriously hurt. Chapman told police that Del Sasso drove thru a stop sign onto Mannheim road.

Miss Alice Schoefield, 16, of 169 14th place, Chicago Heights, was killed when the car in which she was riding collided with another machine at Forrest and 1st avenues in Riverside. Police said Albert J. Olson, 18, of 1643 Buena Vista avenue, Chicago Heights, driver of the car in which she was riding, failed to halt for a stop sign on 1st avenue.

Olson and another passenger, Victor Virgil, 23, of 67 West 19th street, Chicago Heights, were injured. The other driver, Miss Talitha Saylor of York and Roosevelt roads, near La Grange, also was hurt.

Killed as Car Overturns.

Robert E. Nelson, 18, of 1527 Orchard street, was killed when his car skidded and overturned seven times on state route 71, four miles west of Ottawa. Two companions, Arthur Briscolino of 1816 North Halsted street, and Irene Stadts, 16, whose address was not learned, were injured.

WHY FALSE TEETH WEARERS HAVE BAD BREATH

Millions Suffer Without Knowing!

You can't notice any odor from your plate or bridge—but others may! Dentists call this odor "denture breath" and it's serious. It comes from a mucin-scum that collects on plates and bridges. This scum is almost invisible—but it can make your breath so bad that friends shudder. It can breed decay-bacteria that infect your other teeth, actually hurt your health and spoil your pleasure.

Ordinary brushing often can't get this scum off plate or bridge—can't protect you against "denture breath." But just try Polident! Polident not only cleans—it actually purifies plates and bridges without brushing. It gets every bit of scum, tarnish, stain and odor—dissolves it away and leaves your plate sweet and clean as new.

Your breath will be fresher, your mouth feel cleaner—and your plate last longer and look better. Polident is approved by dental authorities, Good Housekeeping and tens of thousands of delighted users. Long-lasting can costs only 30¢ at any drug store.

POLIDENT
CLEANS, PURIFIES LIKE MAGIC
Do this daily: Add a little Polident powder to ½ glass water. Stir. Then put in plate or bridge for 10 to 15 minutes — Rinse —and it's ready to use!

F. M. SACKETT, EX-SENATOR AND DIPLOMAT, DIES

Baltimore, Md., May 18 [Special].—Frederic M. Sackett, 72 years old, of Louisville, Ky., who served in the United States senate from Kentucky for five years and for three years was ambassador to Germany, died of heart disease in a hotel here today. He came to Baltimore some time ago with his wife who underwent an eye operation and was convalescing.

F. M. Sackett.

A Republican, Sackett was head of two coal companies, a cement firm and a real estate company in 1924 when he was elected to the senate. President Hoover appointed him ambassador to Germany in 1929 and he assumed his post early in 1930, remaining in Berlin until the Roosevelt administration took office in 1933.

Born in Providence, R. I., in 1868, Sackett was graduated from Brown university in 1890. He obtained a law degree from Harvard university three years later.

RECORD CROWDS VISIT HOLLAND'S HUGE TULIP BEDS

Holland, Mich., May 18 [Special].—Holland tonight breathed easier after a record tulip time week-end. Citizens prepared for lighter festival activities tomorrow and Tuesday. Harry Nelis, proprietor of Holland's largest tulip farm, reported "the largest crowd we ever had" visited his farm. Nelis estimated his Sunday visitors at 125,000.

Perfect weather has led officials to predict new records during the remaining six days of the festival.

Tomorrow's program is designed for the entertainment of local people. The exhibits will be opened in the morning, the Dutch fashion show will be given in the afternoon, and in the evening the tulip tales pageant will be presented at Riverside park. Gov. Murray D. Van Wagoner will attend the festival on Tuesday.

DISARMS BANDIT, BUT 2D UPSETS HIS ADVANTAGE

Abraham Rubin of 3051 Logan boulevard had no trouble disarming one bandit, but two proved too much for him early yesterday. Rubin and his wife had just stepped into their car on State street near Oak street when a robber walked up and pushed a gun thru the open window. Rubin, a dress shop owner, took the bandit's gun from him and pointed it at the gunman. At that moment, the robber's comrade drove alongside in a car. He threatened to kill Rubin unless the merchant returned the gun. Rubin returned it. The bandits then relieved Mrs. Rubin of a $1,200 diamond ring and $40. They drove off, shouting back at Rubin, "You're lucky you didn't get killed, buddy."

ANGLERS CATCH SMELT BY THOUSANDS; WELL, BY HUNDREDS, THEN!

Smelt fishermen were packed like sardines along the lake at Montrose avenue yesterday. But the smelts outnumbered them anyway, and many of the fishermen departed with catches of 50 to 100. One man said he had 175, but you know how fishermen exaggerate.

The usual way to catch smelts is to scoop them up in buckets, nets, or golf bags in the shallow water when they are swarming from the lake into streams in the spring smelt run. The Montrose avenue fishermen found no schools of the silvery fish, and fished for them with hook and line, with minnows for bait.

Peter M. Berry, one of the neighborhood authorities on smelts, said the smelts are moving south in the lake from their northern spawning grounds.

He was struck below the heart by a ball pitched by Walter Gadowski, 23, of 2841 Mango avenue. Told by the umpire to take his base, Kantos walked three steps and collapsed. He leaves his widow, Yvonne, 19.

SET TENTATIVE TERMS TO AVOID HARD COAL TIEUP

One Day's Stoppage of Work Likely.

New York, May 18 (AP).—A tentative wage-hour agreement was reached today by subcommittees of the anthracite operators and United Mine Workers of America [CIO], which may permit resumption of work on Tuesday after a one day stoppage. The terms were not disclosed.

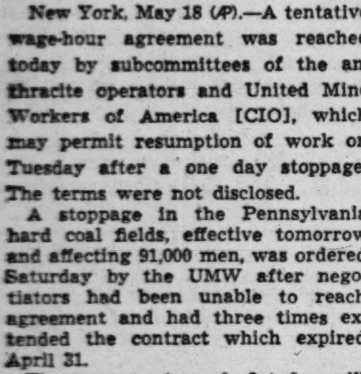
A stoppage in the Pennsylvania hard coal fields, effective tomorrow and affecting 91,000 men, was ordered Saturday by the UMW after negotiators had been unable to reach agreement and had three times extended the contract which expired April 31.

The agreement reached today will be submitted to the larger negotiating committee which will then meet at 10 a. m. [EST] tomorrow, possibly for official approval of a contract. The mines will be closed tomorrow.

Won't Work Today.

John L. Lewis, UMA president, asked if the miners might not return to work tomorrow under the tentative agreement, said:

"There will be no change in the situation until we complete this negotiation of a contract. We simply cannot get word to them to go back by tomorrow."



The graph indicates the rise of workers' income (based on monthly salary and wage figures) in the last few years.

The union had asked a $1 a day increase in the basic $4.62 daily wage and a 20 per cent increase in the pay of contract workers.

The tentative agreement came a day after a threatened work stoppage in the soft coal fields was averted thru the intervention of William H. Davis, vice chairman of the National Defense Mediation board.

The soft coal negotiators agreed to continue their sessions in New York and to appear before the defense mediation board in Washington at 10 a. m. [EST] Friday if they failed to agree by that time.

The negotiations started at New York last Monday. The UMW demands that the southern operators agree to the $7 a day wage accepted by northern owners. This would be a $1.40 increase over the rate prevailing in the south under the contract which expired on April 1.

Shop Leaders Approve Pact.

Detroit, Mich., May 18 [Special].—More than 175 United Automobile Workers [CIO] shop stewards and local presidents voted today, after a nine hour debate, to recommend to their local unions ratification of the General Motors agreement reached in Washington last Friday.

General Motors officials said that the agreement, which gives 10 cents an hour increase to 160,000 workers in 78 plants thruout the country, covered by UAW contract, would cost the management an additional $35,000,000 a year.

The rival CIO and AFL today began final spirited drives for victory in Wednesday's National Labor Relations board election among 83,000 workers of the Ford Motor company's Rouge and Lincoln plants.

Call Strike Vote.

Peoria, Ill., May 18 (AP).—The CIO United Farm Equipment Workers of America announced today that a strike vote over wage differences would be taken Wednesday thru Saturday at the Caterpillar Tractor company. The company employs 13,000 men. The union seeks a blanket 12 cents an hour pay increase and a closed shop.

Some Metal Users Are Forced to Close by Supply Scarcity

Cleveland, O., May 18 (AP).—Some users of pig iron and carbon steel have shut down or greatly curtailed operations because of lack of materials, and several other consumers are said to be near shutdowns, the Magazine Steel reported today.

The pig iron scarcity concerned a specialty, silvery iron, rather than bulk requirements. In finished steel, apparently, the users of plates, sheets, and strips have suffered most, the review said.

View on Priorities.

"Careful checks in authoritative quarters reveal that there is no foundation for fears among consumers that there shortly will be an all-out priority system on finished rolled steel products," the review asserted. "This does not necessarily mean that all consumers will get steel as they want it.

"Realizing that steel using manufacturers who are engaged solely in civilian work will have less material available as time goes on, more and more are seeking arms work to make sure they will be able to keep their plants going under all conditions.

Britain Asks Big Bids.

"Bids on 1,000,000 tons of steel for Great Britain are now being filed by American producers with the procurement division of the treasury department, Washington. Deliveries are to be made in equal amounts over the next four calendar months. This is the major inquiry to come out under the mechanism set up by the lease-lend law."

The nation's steel ingot production last week was estimated at 99½ per cent of theoretical capacity, up 2 points from the preceding week. Gains by districts were: Pittsburgh, 5 to 99; Chicago, 1 to 102½; Buffalo, 2½ to 93; Birmingham, 5 to 95; New England, 10 to 100, and Cincinnati, 3½ to 92½. Unchanged districts were: Eastern Pennsylvania and Youngstown, 95; Wheeling, 88, and St. Louis, 98. Cleveland dropped 1½ to 95.

GLIDDEN'S NET PROFIT FOR SIX MONTHS HIGHER

The Glidden company, maker of paints, food products, and chemicals, yesterday reported net income of $1,033,811 for the six months ended April 30, compared with $614,933 in the corresponding period a year earlier.

Net sales increased to $28,191,314 from $23,324,275. The company estimated income taxes at $363,626, against $76,933, and said provisions for federal excess profits tax were not believed necessary.

Officials of the Northern Association of Purchasing Agents will meet here this week to make final plans for the association's annual convention which opens May 26 in the Stevens hotel. Among speakers at the convention will be Edward R. Stettinius Jr., director of priorities in the Office of Production Management; Leon Henderson, price administrator, and Donald M. Nelson, the OPM's director of purchases.

SIMPLIFY PLAN OF PRIORITIES ON SCARCE METAL

Washington, D. C., May 18. (AP).—In an effort to speed armament production, the government arranged today for 500 manufacturers to obtain scarce metals and other materials of limited supply under a simplified system of priorities.

E. R. Stettinius Jr., defense director of priorities, announced that the plan would be tried experimentally with a list of firms which make such things as small industrial motors, portable tools, chains, and scientific instruments. Officials indicated that if the plan proved effective it would be extended later to other manufacturers.

The system is intended to eliminate much of the involved procedure now required to obtain priorities or preference ratings.

Food Stamp Plan May Apply to All Low Income Families

Washington, D. C., May 18 [Special].—Adoption of a national food stamp plan applicable to all families receiving incomes of less than $1,000 annually will be considered at the national nutrition conference for defense, Paul V. McNutt, federal security administrator said today. Such a plan, McNutt said, would cost approximately $500,000,000.

PRICES CLIMB AS PRODUCTION FALLS IN APRIL

Industry's Output Is Rising This Month.

Washington, D. C., May 18 [Special].—A sharp rise in wholesale commodity prices and a decline in industrial production in April which gave way to an acceleration in the first half of May were reported today by the federal reserve board.

Prices of most basic commodities advanced rapidly in the first half of May. Increases were most pronounced for agricultural commodities. Prices of petroleum products, coke, leather, textile yarns and fabrics and building materials also rose. Metal prices, because they are subject to federal control, remained stable.

Index Dips Four Points.

In April the board's seasonally adjusted index of industrial production declined to 139 per cent of the 1935-'39 average, a drop of four points since March. The decline represented chiefly a big reduction in output of bituminous coal as a result of the strike. The mines were reopened on April 30, and in the first half of May output increased rapidly.

Automobile production in April also declined because of the Ford company strike, but has since risen to the high monthly rate of more than 500,000 cars and trucks. Steel production was curtailed in the latter half of April by shortages of coal and coke.

Machinery Output Rises.

Machinery production rose further, and activity in the aircraft and shipbuilding industries continued to expand rapidly. Textile production rose further from the high March rate. Consumption of raw cotton climbed to the record figure of 920,000 bales in April and rayon deliveries also set a new peak. There were continued gains in the chemical, paper, and food industries.

Iron ore shipments in April reached the large amount of 7,000,000 tons, and output of nonferrous metals was near capacity rates. Construction contracts awards in April declined because of a smaller volume of armament plant contracts.

RISE IN EXCESS PROFIT TAXES MAY BE URGED

Washington, D. C., May 18 (AP).—The treasury may recommend to congress tomorrow stiff increases in excess profits taxes with the aim of draining into the revenue tills a larger portion of industrial profits arising from the nation's expenditures for defense.

Reports reaching Capitol hill were to the effect that the recommendations—to be presented to the house ways and means committee by Assistant Secretary Johnson L. Sullivan—would involve suggested reductions in the basic level at which excessive profits taxation now begins, and possibly an increase in rates.

LOUISVILLE GAS SHARES GO ON MARKET TODAY

A group of underwriters headed by Lehman Brothers today will offer 780,792 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock, $25 par value, of Louisville Gas and Electric company at $27.25 a share.

Holders of the Louisville company's 7 per cent and 6 per cent cumulative preferred stocks have priority, expiring May 26, for exchanging each share of their stock for four shares of the new preferred, $6 cash, and a dividend adjustment in cash.

Judiciary Cost in Cook County Is Much Higher

Springfield, Ill., May 18 [Special].—A tabulation showing the rise in expenses for the judiciary and the offices of the county clerk and the state's attorney in Cook county for this year with compared 1933 was given here today by Arnold L. Lund. Lund, former Republican state representative from Riverside and a leader in the economy bloc in the legislature included these statistics in an independent survey of the costs of local government in Cook county and has sent a copy to Gov. Green.

Lund has urged a reduction of county expenditures and his report is expected to be of use to opponents of the county board's measure pending in the legislature to peg the county annual tax levy at $10,000,000, about $2,000,000 more than present tax receipts. Some county board members assert the higher levy will increase the tax rate only 1½ cents but other sources have placed the rise at 15 cents.

28 Superior Court Judges.

There are 28 regular judges in the Cook county Superior court, 20 in the Circuit court and one each in the County and Probate courts, a total of 50. In addition downstate judges are frequently called to sit in the Superior and Circuit courts while the regular judges are vacationing.

The 1941 appropriation for the judiciary is $462,705, an increase of $126,885 over the 1933 figure of $335,820. The salaries of the regular judges have risen from $309,435 in 1933 to $382,815 this year, a boost of $73,380. The increase is attributable to an act of the legislature in 1935 increasing the number of Superior court judges from 20 to 28. There is an appropriation this year of $22,880 for extra judges in the Superior court.

The county clerk's office has an appropriation of $667,187 this year, representing an increase of $263,815 over the 1933 figure of $403,372. The major part of the rise has been in salaries and wages, this year's total being $536,287, which is $181,648 over the 1933 expenditure of $354,639. There are now 124 employés in the office, 13 more than in 1933.

Clerk's Fees Drop Sharply.

In contrast fees received by the office have dropped sharply, indicating, Lund said, that there has not been as great activity as in 1933. The fees collected that year totaled $1,461,579 and in 1940 the comparable figure was $1,036,797, a decrease of $424,782.

This year's appropriation for the state's attorney's office is $736,232, which is $109,226 less than the 1933 expenditures of $627,006. The salary figures are $565,032 for 1941 as against $410,797 for 1933, a rise of $154,235. There are 154 employés in the office, 11 more than eight years ago.

Did Not Spent $136,000.

"It is true," Lund said, "that the state's attorney's office has not consumed all of the appropriations allotted it in recent years. In 1939, this office did not spend $136,158 of its total appropriation and of this saving the sum of $114,067 was attributed to salary cuts alone. In this accomplishment, this office is unique.

"However, it must be pointed out that in comparing the actual expenditure in this same year for salaries with that of 1933, there still is found an increase over the former year of $40,168. In 1940, the total appropriation was $732,232 of which $654,613 was spent. Of this latter $489,073 went for salaries, an increase of $78,276 over 1933 despite the fact that all of the appropriation was not used."

SUBMARINES.

I have noticed the name of the Electric Boat company in the New York stock list. Is this the same company which has received large naval orders? Is the company making any money?—E. K.

Answer: Electric Boat company, Bayonne, N. J., has received approximately 230 million dollars since last June in government orders for submarines, patrol boats, and fast motor torpedo boats. In addition, it has been awarded contracts by foreign governments for similar craft.

The company makes its own engines, dynamos, motors, and interior equipment. Its "Elco" works makes pleasure motor boats. The main plant is at Bayonne, and a subsidiary plant is at Groton, Conn., on the Thames river.

The government's expanded naval program boosted the company's earnings about 100 per cent last year to the best level since 1929. Earnings results in the last five years compared as follows:

	Net income.	Earned per share.	Dividends per share.
1936	$358,114	$0.48	$0.60
1937	508,870	0.68	0.60
1938	562,829	0.75	0.60
1939	1,085,516	1.44	0.60
1940	2,174,607	2.89	0.80

The present company, which in 1925 succeeded one of the same name founded in 1899, started paying dividends on its stock in 1936. It has outstanding 752,725 shares of $3 par capital stock.

CONTINENTAL ROLL & STEEL.

I have been offered some Continental Roll and Steel Foundry 6s of '50 in exchange for some bonds I hold. What do you think of them?—L. T.

Answer: The first mortgage 6 per cent A bonds due June 1, 1950, of the Continental Roll and Steel Foundry company are rated only medium grade because of the company's inability to cover interest charges on the issue in periods of low steel activity. Interest on the bonds was earned an average of 2.40 times in the last seven years. However, earnings in 1938 failed to equal the charges for the year, and in 1935 barely covered them. Interest has been paid regularly.

The recent strong upturn in steel operations has helped the company's income. Interest charges in 1940 were earned 4.91 times and in 1939 2.20 times.

The 6s of 1950 are outstanding in the amount of $2,875,470 and constitute the entire funded debt of the company. Continental Roll and Steel Foundry, with headquarters in East Chicago, Ind., is the country's largest producer of rolls used in steel mills and of miscellaneous steel castings. It also makes heavy machinery for the steel industry.

WARN OF LITTLE REAL PROFIT IN ARMING WORK

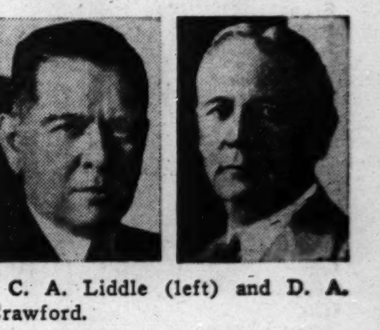
Pullman's Employes Get Report.

Executives of the Pullman group of companies yesterday took their workers into their confidence in their fourth annual report to employés. Discussing their problems and their hopes, they told the workers that there is little real profit in arms work—the tax collector sees to that—and after the emergency has passed Pullman may expect even more severe competition than it has had.

The report was signed by D. A. Crawford, president of Pullman, Inc. and the Pullman company, C. A. Liddle, president, Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, and P. G. Jenks, president, Pullman-Standard Car Export corporation.

No Real Profit in War Booms.

"The fact that war stimulated industrial booms are temporary and artificial cannot be too strongly emphasized," the workers were told. "Volume of business will increase, more jobs will be available, and possibly larger earnings will be made by the stockholders and the tax collector, temporarily, but nobody will profit in the long run.



C. A. Liddle (left) and D. A. Crawford.

"Prices of various materials used by the companies have increased. Taxes are heavier than ever before and are going higher. While it is expected that larger profits before taxes will be realized in 1941 than in 1940 and other recent lean years, it is anticipated that the net earnings after taxes may be smaller than those reported for active years in the past under normal peacetime conditions."

Expect Increased Competition.

Clearly referring to the expansion in the aviation industry, the trio said that "the vigorous, abnormal expansion of various branches of the transportation industry already under way is almost certain to make for increased competition after the war." The workers were told that to meet competition they must improve and promote service to customers.

The Pullman group is working on large orders for tanks, howitzer mounts, trench mortars, shells, shell forgings, and military airplane parts. Employé training has been expanded to include instruction in the manufacture of armaments and to help prevent a shortage of skilled labor.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Corn Planting Begins.

May 18, 1941.

CORN planting has started at the Du Page county farm. The first ground to be planted was a 15 acre field that had been fall plowed. The ground was thoroly disked and harrowed before the two row corn planter moved onto the field.

The corn is being drilled in at the rate of one bushel to seven acres. The seed used is a Funk hybrid, G114. The planter usually is pulled by the farm's team of mules, which is accustomed to the work and can walk a straight line without too much attention. The planter is not checked, so the field cannot be cross-cultivated. By not checking, more corn can be planted, resulting in a heavier yield per acre. This is especially true when hybrid corn is used. All the corn to be planted on the farm this year will be hybrid.

Feeding Value Disputed.

There has been a great deal of discussion on the feeding value of hybrid corn as compared with that of the open pollinated varieties. Some farmers have maintained that the hybrid is too hard and flinty to digest well and hence is not economical to feed.

The farm has experimented with feeding both varieties and found little difference between the two. The determining factor in the use of hybrid corn is the high yield per acre obtained from the seed. Any small loss of hybrid corn thru the inability of the animals to digest it completely is more than made up for by the increased yields.

While the mule team was plodding its old fashioned way down the corn rows, across the farm in another field high powered machinery was rolling back and forth, tearing at the ground and filling the air with metallic blasts of noise.

Two Tractors Break Field.

The Caterpillar tractor clanked down the field with a big three bottom plow, pulling it as easily as a child pulls a little red wagon. Following the Diesel was another tractor, a Farmall 30, towing a string of disks weighted down with huge slabs of stone.

The two giants lumbered up and down the field after each other, one ripping up the soil and the other cutting and pulverizing the freshly turned ground, making it ready for the harrow and corn planter.

It was a picture of contrasts—the powerful machines and the slow, plodding mules. Each had a definite function to perform and was doing it to perfection. The scene was proof that the horse and mule have their place on the farm as well as the tractor.
